TEN MINERS RESCUED FROM BURNING MINE

New Greek Premier 80 Years Old

ATHENS, November 17.—Queen Mother Olga, of Greece, will probably assume the regency today, it was learned here this afternoon. (The queen mother is the widow of the Late King George who was assassinated at Saloniki in 1915. Admiral Coundouriotis is the present regent.)

ATHENS, Nov. 17—George Rhallis, former premier, has succeeded in forming a cabinet to succeed the Venizelos government defeated in Sunday's elections and the new ministry will be sworn in Wednesday, it was announced today.

M. Rhallis, who is 80 years old, will, besides the premiership, assume the portfolio of foreign affairs.

M. Rhallis previously had informed Admiral Coundouriotis, the regent, that he would accept the task of forming a cabinet, but only after the resignation of the old government has been definitely announced.

There is much interest in the vote cast by the army, which has not yet been returned and which it has been thought might affect the Venizelos cause favorably. The opposition's press bureau, however, is quoted today as declaring that the voting at the front would be annulled.

ATHENS, November 17. — "Constantine is our rightful king" former Premier Gounaris, leader of the successful party in the Greek elections said today, "and we expect him back as soon as a plebiscite is held showing that the people want him."

"If the plebiscite shows the people want Constantine, I do not see why France or Great Britain should interfere. They won the elections because the people regarded the Venizelists as usurpers by force.

We wish to avoid civil war and further troubles. We shall pursue a policy of conciliation, not vengeance, toward the Venizelists. We do not anticipate a revolt in the army which is really Constantinist."

Police still are searching for two other men who are said to have been with the girls early Saturday evening. According to the confessions given out by the police, the two men being detained met the girls after the latter had secured the liquor which played the chief part in causing their death.

These two men, their confessions declare, left the girls at their own request in Grant Park, and it is believed by the police that the girls wandered there until overcome by exposure.

Investigation by the police disclosed it was said, that the girls had partaken of "lemon extract" purchased near their home Saturday night, besides the other liquor which chemical examination disclosed in their stomach. No traces of poison were found the police said.

Greeks Tired Of Politics, Says Defeated Premier

ATHENS, Nov. 16—Reasons for his defeat are said by former Premier Venizelos to be the weariness of the people with politics, their desire for a rest and for the return of soldiers from the front, and espionage played by opponents on the charge that he was putting Greece into the hands of foreign nations. M. Venizelos declares this charge aroused fears of protracted wars in connection with his greater Greece policy, and he says popular jealousy played a part in his reverse at the polls last Sunday.

To these he declares may be added various grievances against the internal administration and the feeling that he, himself, was the victim of his own ideas of aggrandizement. M. Venizelos when seen tonight, was taking his defeat courageously and calmly. Speaking of himself he said:

"I am tired and want a rest. Now I will have time to enjoy reading political history."

The "Early Risers" Walk As Snow Blocks Traffic

Fall Of "The Beautiful" Unusually Early and General Throughout Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17—Ohio awoke this morning to struggle through the first real snow storm of the winter, a fall of several inches being reported generally throughout the state. The snow, which began falling yesterday, continued heavily throughout the night and today steam and interurban traffic was seriously delayed while street cars in many cities were held up, forcing early morning workers to walk. As much as six and a half inches of snow has fallen at several points throughout the state. Usually heavy snow was reported from Dayton, Youngstown, Hamilton and Cleveland.

Washington Eager To See Harding Cabinet At Work Early Learning Duties

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1920, by Times Pub. Co.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—If President-elect Harding will select his cabinet by February 1 or thereabouts and will send his ten associates to Washington, they will find the ten cabinet officers of the Wilson administration glad to familiarize the new cabinet officials with all the routine of the government departments.

This suggestion, which is but prompted by the Wilson administration, but has been talked in official circles by persons who want to see the transfer of government accomplished with the least annoyance and inconvenience to the American people really emanates from those who constantly have business before the government departments and who fear that if the ordinary procedure is followed it will be April or May before action can be obtained on pending matters.

Takes Month to Learn Job

Usually it takes a new cabinet official at least a month to learn the routine of his department. During that period he depending upon his subordinate officials whom he does not know. They put documents before him to sign and he must either give his approval or take the responsibility for delay. In some cases decisions are urgent and there is no other course but to take the advice of departmental subordinates.

When President Wilson was elected in 1912 Secretary Knox reorganized the importance of getting early cooperation between the outgoing and incoming administrations especially on the Mexican situation, which was then acute. Huntington Wilson, assistant Secretary of State, was selected to advise the new administration about pending matters. However, there is no comparison between the number of ci-

Save Money On Your Laundry

You save money when you save labor. This is true whether you do your own work or have it done. You should therefore have expert advice on the arrangement of your work.

You save money if you save clothes from injury—from hardening, from fading, from shrinking. Be sure to use the right kind of lye, the proper washing powder.

You should know how to use a little soda when you put your clothes to soak, and a little turpentine when they are yellow.

The Department of Agriculture has made an exhaustive study of all these problems of the laundry. It has prepared a bulletin that is now ready for free distribution. Our Washington Information Bureau will get a copy for you if you send in your name and address with two cents in stamps for return postage.

5 Bodies Recovered; One Man Is Missing

EARLINGTON, KY., November 17.—Ten miners were rescued today from the burning Arnold coal mine near here. Bodies of five others were recovered. One other person trapped in the mine was still missing.

The rescue, effected by tunneling around the fire which had shut off the single entry of the mine, came twenty hours after the flames broke out.

The three white miners among the sixteen entombed are among the dead, all of the rescued being negroes as also the one missing man. The dead:

Hugh Mack Perkins, aged 35, white.
Jack Bond, 45, white.
Roy Carnes, 21, white.
George Andrews, 42, negro.
Alexander James, 34, negro.

All except Carnes are survived by widows.

Emmett Frances, a 17-year-old negro trapper in the mine, is missing, and hope for his rescue alive is practically at an end, search however, was continued for him, but it was feared that he had been buried beneath falling slate.

The men were trapped three miles back in the mine when fire broke out yesterday afternoon and cut off their escape from the entrance.

After all other attempts at rescue had failed, a tunnel was dug around the burning entry and a start for the miners was made. The rescue party after forging into the mine for a good distance however, were forced to come out because of the denseness of the smoke and gas. Later this morning another rescue party was organized and armed with gas masks, went to the end of the mine in an attempt to find the men who were trapped there. Little hope of the miners being found alive should the expedition prove successful, was held.

Those entombed in the mine are three white men and thirteen negroes. One other negro was working close to the entrance and discovered the fire soon enough to make his escape. He spread the alarm and mine rescue teams from nearby coal mining cities were called on for assistance. The rescue teams worked tirelessly all night in the meager hope that the men would still be alive when reached.

Huddled together in a little group near the blazing entrance of the mine this morning were the wives and families of the entrapped men. They had kept a sorrowful and tireless vigil throughout the night, in the faint hope that their loved ones would be spared them.

The whites and blacks were drawn together in the disaster affecting them both. Grief stricken and weeping they stand, watching the smoke pour from the burning mine, forming an incentive urging the rescuers to greater efforts.

Police Search For Would-Be Train Bandits

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 17—Police are searching today for armed men who last night attempted to hold up and rob Union Pacific passenger train number 101 eastbound, at Sandow, six miles east of Denver. Eighteen shots were fired by the bandits and members of the train crew, who since the Carlisle train robbery in Wyoming, have been armed.

One of the bandits is believed to have been wounded. They escaped in an automobile, which was waiting near the siding.

Three of the bandit party, believed to have numbered six men, flagged the train as it pulled to a stop, they approached the baggage car. When the bandits opened fire the train crew returned it with shotguns.

In the meantime Rock Island train number six, eastbound on the same tracks, came up behind. The Rock Island train's rear coaches were derailed as it passed the Sandow switch. Railroad officials believe the switch was pulled while the train was passing over it.

Batum In Hands Of Bolsheviki

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16—Reports that Batum have been captured by the Russian Bolsheviki here have been received here but thus far they have not been confirmed. Supplies collected in the city were removed some time ago and a Georgian division was sent to the south for the purpose of checking an advance by Turkish Nationalists.

The confusion existing in the Caucasus region cannot be described, and trains running between Triflis and Batum are badly overcrowded. News from Armenia is badly confused. It would appear that neither the Bolshevik element nor the native Armenian government is in control of the situation.

Open Probe On Conditions In Ireland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Hearings on conditions in Ireland with prominent officials of that country among those to appear, were to open here today before a commission from the committee of 100 investigating conditions in Ireland. Witnesses in sufficient number to occupy the commission's time for three days, already have been granted permission to testify, according to William MacDonald, secretary, and the British embassy has been requested to be represented by counsel or any official spokesman. Similar action was taken with respect to Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Irish republic." The commission has been advised that numerous witnesses will make the trip from Ireland to tell of conditions. Some already have sailed. Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of the late lord mayor of Cork, will sail November 24. Most of the others, however, were expected to start the ocean voyage at an earlier date.

The commission has stated that it hoped only to "establish the facts in the case of Ireland" and to lay these facts before the world. It will attempt to develop the contentions of both sides to the controversy, and grant a hearing to all who are familiar with conditions in Ireland, or who lately have made personal studies of the situation, it was announced.

Members of the commission, elected as a "high court" by the committee of 100, include Raymond Robins, Chicago; Joseph W. Folk, St. Louis; Frederick C. Howe, Washington; Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh; Jane Addams, Chicago; James H. Maurer, president Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts.

Swindled Bank In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17—Further efforts are being made here and throughout the state today to locate a man who, describing himself as Rev. Father Joseph Hogan, police say, swindled a local bank out of $1,000.

On November 5, according to the authorities, the man opened accounts, depositing $100 in each of four banks here. Later he added $240 to each account and on Saturday augmented his savings by depositing drafts on a Cincinnati bank for $1665.

On Monday he sought to withdraw $2,000 from each of the banks but succeeded in doing so at only one institution, the others refusing to credit his account with the amount of the draft until it was verified. "Rev. Hogan" then disappeared and has not been seen since.

ATHENS, Nov. 16—There are rumors that it is possible the Greek army, which is supposed to be loyal to former Premier Venizelos may create the republic of Smyrna, in Asia Minor.

The present regency of Admiral Coundouriotis has been recognized by the opposition. It is probable the cabinet selected by the leaders of the dominant party in Greece will hold office temporarily until a plebiscite is held at which the people will vote upon the return of former King Constantine. It is also believed that opposition will make efforts to determine the views of the world relative to the results of the election.

There was a panic, on the bourse when it became certain that the Venizelos government had been defeated, the United States exchange doubling in value. The city is quiet and the parliament house is occupied by troops.

Her charming presence and splendid interpretation of the great work being done, were the subjects of much comment.

Under the direction of Mrs. S. H. Timmonds, a large chorus of mixed voices sang appropriate numbers with accompaniment by the Columbia Orchestra and Mrs. J. F. Davis. The work of the children who took part has also received much praise, particularly the Happy Childhood Group composed of the children of the parochial schools who were trained under Sister John and Miss Grace Barr, the teacher of Expression at Holy Redeemer School.

Will Make Another Effort To Build Hospital Addition

A meeting of the Hospital Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at C. of C. headquarters.

The committee will consider ways and means for an addition to Hempstead Hospital now that definite word has been received that the bond issue failed to carry at this month's election. The committee feels that the addition is a public need and that some way can be found whereby council can alone provide for the erection of an addition to the present hospital.

A new leader jumped to the top of the Business Men's Volley Ball Association, when the Invincibles won three straight on Monday from the Selects, at the Wilhelmette Hall, by the scores of 21 to 8, 21 to 12 and 21 to 15. This puts last season's joke team at the top of the heap.

On Tuesday the Wholesalers and the Selbys fought it out for the second round of the ladder.

The Wholesalers played several substitutes, but hooked one game, denying the Selbyites the pleasure of connecting with all three. Homer Selby is now back in the old line-up and the Selby team is again headed for the top and determined to get there.

The line-ups were as follows:

Selects—Wm. Harris, captain; Harry Gillen, Paul Heinel, Guy Blair and Raymond Lewis.

Invincibles—Jim Finney, captain; Donald Phillips, Lester Finney, Vaughn Finney, James Bryce and Elmer Shoemaker.

Selbys—Roscoe Donohoe, captain; Homer Selby, Joe Brennan, Watson Goddard, C. Kearns and J. B. Wiles.

Edison Was Right Again

THE prices of Edison Phonographs have increased less than 15% since 1914, and a substantial part of this increase is the 5% tax, which the Edison Laboratories pay to the Government.

The Edison Phonograph of today is a better phonograph and a better value than the Edison Phonograph of 1914. On the other hand, the dollar of today is worth, in purchasing power, only a little more than half as much as the dollar of 1914. Therefore, if you buy an Edison Phonograph at this time, you are virtually buying a before-the-war value, with an after-the-war dollar.

Why was it that Edison did not increase his prices and how did he avoid the necessity of doing so? Any commercial agency and practically any investment banker can ascertain for you that the Edison Phonograph Laboratories were doing business, in 1914, on a narrower margin of profit than was true of any of the other established phonograph, or talking machine, manufacturers. How, then, did Edison manage to avoid an increase in his selling prices?

The story is dramatically interesting. The following is only the essence of it:

When the United States of America entered the Great War, Mr. Edison dropped all his work at the Edison Laboratories and enlisted in the army of American men of science, who pitted themselves so successfully against the world famed German scientists. Cardinal Mercier, on his recent visit to America, credited Mr. Edison with a large share in winning the war for the Allies. The New York American of September 5th describes, at length, some of the inventions, which Mr. Edison developed and placed at the disposal of the Government. In this article, the New York American states that Mr. Edison appears to have been the moving spirit of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States.

When Mr. Edison gave up his own business for the business of the Nation, a very critical situation existed in his Manufacturing Laboratories, due to their inability to obtain various materials, and the necessity of finding satisfactory substitutes for such materials. If there was ever a time in Mr. Edison's career, when his personal attention to his business was required, it was when he went to war. Thomas A. Edison had reason to believe that he was risking enormous losses, by deserting his business, at the particular time in question, but he did not hesitate, and his example had a remarkable influence on the men and women, who remained behind. From the humblest workman to the highest paid executive in the Edison organization, everyone seemed determined "to make good, while the Old Man was away." Vacations were passed up and doctors' orders were ignored by zealous employees, and, as a result, the Edison Manufacturing Laboratories were one of the few manufacturing concerns in the United States, where there was no loss of efficiency, during the war, and where there was, in fact, an increase in efficiency.

During the war, Mr. Edison spent most of his time on the sea coast or at sea. On those rare occasions, when he visited the Edison Laboratories, it was difficult to gain his attention, for more than a few minutes, with reference to business matters. He did, however, state that the Edison Phonograph was his pet invention and he hoped that his business associates would be able, in some way or other, to avoid any increase in price, and that, if there must be an increase, he wanted such increase to be just as small as it could possibly be made. Mr. Edison said: "I am willing to stand the gaff. Music is an important thing. Let us make it as easy as possible for people to have music in their homes in these nerve-racking days."

What was the result? The wonderful realism of the New Edison, "The Phonograph with a Soul," made it desired above all other phonographs, and its sale was stimulated by the fact that the increase in price was negligible. The demand soon far outstripped the supply. Overhead and sales expense were reduced to the minimum and, thanks to Mr. Edison's willingness to absorb a large share of the increased cost of manufacture, it was possible for the Edison Laboratories, by accepting a merely nominal profit, to avoid any substantial increase in the selling price of the Edison Phonograph.

It will be many years before the general level of commodity prices is as low as the present price of the Edison Phonograph. Leading bankers have expressed themselves as willing to lend money on Edison Phonographs, because they know the selling prices of Edison Phonographs are not going to be reduced.

Let us reiterate that when you buy an Edison Phonograph today you buy a before-the-war value with an after-the-war dollar. If you have any fear that there may be a reduction in the prices of Edison Phonographs, we are prepared to give you full assurance on that point.

NEW DIRECTORS ARE CHOSEN AT ANNUAL FARM BUREAU MEETING

A new directorate was elected at the annual meeting of the Scioto County Farm Bureau Tuesday, each township in the county having one director. The director was chosen at a meeting of Farm Bureau members in each county. Election of the directors was announced at the close of the Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday afternoon at the United Brethren church. The result was as follows: Green, Charles Bush; Vernon, Charles Hayward; Porter, Otto Zoellner; Harrison, William Knore; Madison, Frank Debo; Bloom, Riley Burton; Clay, Charles Blaney; Valley, Dr. J. N. Thomas; Jefferson, Samuel McCarty; Morgan, C. D. Bradshaw; Harden, Oscar Mussard; Brush, J. Milt Jones; Union, John Wiley; Nile, Q. L. Veazey; Washington, John F. Rapp. Rush township has not yet elected a director. The afternoon session was given over mostly to Charles E. Scott, a banker and farmer of Hillsboro, Highland county. He is an earnest worker for the Farm Bureau and made splendid and interesting talk. He spoke of how the local Grange and Farm Bureau are linked together with the state organizations and the national organizations. He touched on the many benefits derived from organization and for a few minutes laid stress on the benefits of co operative marketing, which was the subject of the morning meeting.

Mr. Scott told how the Farm Bureau and Grange are closely allied and strengthened his point by speaking of L. J. Tabor, who is State Grange Master, and also Director of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. "There is a great field for both and the time is coming when the farmer will demand certain rights just as other organized bodies," said Mr. Scott. "We are entitled to better conditions on the farm and we are going to get them through organization," continued the speaker, who also said, "our organization is for protection and not oppression."

Mr. Scott in closing said, "There is such a thing as in being too radical and when it goes that far the organization will break and cease to function. Our organizations have very conservative heads and they are on a firm foundation working for the betterment of everybody."

From the points of interest and attendance the meeting was one of the best ever held by the farmers of this county.

POSTMASTER HELPS MAKE PEOPLE SAVE

Columbus, O.—(Special.)—Assistant Postmaster W. E. Thomas of Wellston, O., brought fame to his home town recently by selling more War Savings Stamps in 30 days' time than were sold in any of the larger cities of Ohio. This record was made despite the fact that Wellston is a small town, boasting only a mere handful of citizens as compared with Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati or Akron.

The absorption of War Savings Stamps by any community is a good thing, says Thomas. He said any community that saves money will be a prosperous community. Thomas in his campaign to help his government proved himself a resourceful leader, an energetic worker and a regular American citizen.

Chinese Must Be Humored.

There is a certain sales psychology which must be remembered when dealing with the Chinaman and that is his respect for tradition. One foreign importer found himself unable for a time to dispose of a shipment of fruits which came in yellow-colored cans, yellow being associated in China with death, while on the other hand it has been found that goods cloaked in red, the symbol of luck are in eager demand.

How He Fooled Her.

One day mother left my little brother with a neighbor while she went shopping. When she returned he was telling her what he had for lunch, and in conclusion he said: "She poured water in my cup before she poured the tea, but I saw her do it and I fooled her 'cause I just drank as far down as the water!"—Chicago Tribune.

Why Do You Worry?

Why should anyone worry? To worry shortens life. Like anger, it reacts and poisons the system. The federal health service has taken worry so seriously that it has issued a bulletin warning the American people against the danger of worrying and the blessing that comes to those who are active members of the glad-hand society.

Ancient Remedy for Toothache.

The most popular remedy for toothache in ancient Egypt seems to have been a mixture of crushed henbane seeds with cement used as a filling. Coarse plumbago, palm fruit and honey was recommended for tightening the teeth and various forms of plaster were used. The cause of decay in those days was generally attributed, especially by the Chinese, to a little white worm which ate its way into the teeth and gums, and many and various are the ancient recipes for destroying this worm.

An Eye to Cleanliness.

The young English girl thought she could safely speak to the soldier who was traveling in the railway carriage with her. She had been unable to take her eyes off the rows of medals which spread across his chest, and when he told her that he had been a sailor before he had been a soldier her triumph was complete. "Tell me now," she urged, pointing a confidential finger impressively at him, "when were ye last washed up on a desert island?"—London Morning Post.

Burns Wore Big Hat.

A Scottish antiquarian has been making inquiries of a London hatter "with a large clientele of men of the intellectual classes," as to the size of hat that must have been worn by Robert Burns, whose skull measurement was 22¼ inches. It seems that 6½ is the size for so considerable a girth. According to the same "intellectual" hatter, Sir Walter Scott's hat was a full 6½, his head circumference being 20¾ inches. A Dumfries hatter says no Dumfries man among his customers takes Burns' size in hats nowadays. From hats like these auld Scotia's grandeur sprang.

PASTOR TO GET HEARING IN JACKSON

JACKSON, Nov. 16—Much interest has been taken in the sensational charges brought against Samuel M. Pastor, a leading merchant in Oak Hill, for the reason that he stands well in that community, and so many believe in his innocence. Some details of a rather long story are as follows:

Detectives representing two big railroad companies, accompanied by Sheriff William G. Davis and his deputy, Llewelyn L. Cherrington, visited the pastor store Saturday, Nov. 6 and wanted to search for stolen goods. Pastor readily consented to the search. The following Monday detectives returned and seized certain goods amounting in value to more than five thousand dollars, which they shipped to Cincinnati. In the meantime Mr. Pastor had gone to Cincinnati, where his wife is spending the winter, to investigate and to employ counsel. His nephew, Joseph Pastor, was left in charge.

When he returned to this county Nov. 13, he learned that five warrants were held against him, and he came to Jackson and gave bond before Justice John Motz in the sum of four thousand dollars, with Evan E. Eubanks, who is his local attorney, as surety.

The five warrants, or affidavits, now in the hands of Sheriff William G. Davis, enumerate the goods received by Pastor from a Cincinnati man, which, it is alleged, were stolen from railroad companies, as follows:

Twenty-nine brown canvas hunting coats valued at $174, alleged to have been stolen from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Affidavit by Lt. Thomas H. Slocum.

A lot of one hundred and seven books of fiction, valued at $40, same company, same offficer.

A lot of overcoats valued at $2500, another lot of twenty-seven overcoats valued at $1200, and ninety boxes of ladies' hose valued at $1,000, all alleged to have been stolen from the Big Four. H. S. Center was the officer signing the affidavit.

The goods enumerated are valued at $4,914, but there is a report that other goods were seized at the same time by the detectives. The officers, so far as known, who have been engaged in the matter in this county, are Edward D. Baker, Thomas H. Slocum, Thomas Ritchie, U. S. Russell, H. S. Center, and Young.

The charge against Samuel M. Pastor is receiving stolen goods, and the principal is a Cincinnati man. It was planned at first to have the hearing in Cincinnati, but Prosecutor John G. Evans announces that the hearing against Pastor will be in Jackson Nov. 26.

REPORTS SAY HARDING'S WIFE WILL BE IDEAL "FIRST LADY"

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president-elect, has a reputation of being a "real woman." Her friends, most of whom know her as Florence, say she is well fitted for the duties of a president's wife because "she has a mind of her own, generally manages to get what she wants, is thoroughly democratic, likes to give and go to parties, is interested in a hundred and one things, knows how to talk to everyone, including men, and once she knows you, always knows you." She is known as a generous, kindly woman whose success has not gone to her head.

The photographs show Mrs. Harding in characteristic poses. The one on top shows her alighting from an engine in which she and her husband rode from one town to another during his campaign. At the right is a formal picture of Mrs. Harding, showing her as she will look at White House receptions. The other pictures are snapshots taken recently.

"No Place Like The Army"

"There's no place like the good old U. S. Army, boys, where you have buddies galore, plenty of good food, clean quarters, good clothes and enough jack in your pockets to take your best girl to a movie.'"

That's what Corporal Elwood Smith, of 852 Fourth street, had to say about the army when he re-enlisted at the local army recruiting station after 6 years, 4 months and 25 days previous service from which he was discharged on October 6 this year. We'll say that he ough to know. Mr. Smith had just returned from three years service in the Panama Canal region when he received his discharge. After one month in "civics" he again felt the call "to the colors."

John F. Moore, Scioto Furnace; Hamon Chaney of Garrison, Ky., and Gus Lewis of Firebrick also signed up for service.

What Your Kidneys Should Do For You

The kidneys are really filters, finely organized for their work of cleansing and purifying the blood, selecting and throwing out waste products which would act as poisons if permitted to remain in the system. When your kidneys are out of order, the impurities are not removed and remain to poison the system, causing backache, swollen or stiff joints, rheumatic pains, puffiness under the eyes, floating specks, biliousness, weakness and pale, waxy, dry skin.

WAS MISERABLE AND ALL TIRED OUT

"I suffered with kidney trouble and have taken many kinds of medicine without getting relief. I used to have severe pains across my back and felt miserable and all tired out, but after taking Foley Kidney Pills I am well. In fact I have not been bothered with kidney trouble since taking the pills."—Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 566 8th Ave., Sioux Falls, S. D.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

are made from the purest and finest medicines, accepted as the most helpful for kidney trouble and bladder ailments. They cost far more to make than the average kidney pills, for the high standard of their making is never deviated from, no matter how the cost of ingredients advance.

Human Thermometer.

At the far top of the kiln (at the famous pottery works of King Techai, China), and in the chimney are holes a foot square, into which a man, who acts as a human thermometer, looks to determine the heat. His method is simple. He spits into the hole, and if the spit turns to steam, the temperature is not sufficient. When the heat is so great that the saliva is shot back at him with a little explosion, everything is all right.—John Knight Shryock in Asia.

Inventor's Triumph.

For years it was believed that a machine could never be made which would weave wicker baskets and furniture. But a machine which produces flawless work at 30 times the speed of the best hand weaving is now in use.

Wm. Henderson Funeral

The funeral of William Henderson, who died suddenly Monday morning in the Scioto bottoms, will be held at 8:30 Thursday morning from the home, with Father T. A. Gochel in charge.

John Conkel

"Uncle John" Conkel, as he was known by all, was born October 11, 1829, died at the home of his daughter, Selina, of near Lucasville, Saturday, November 13, 1920, being 91 years, one month and three days old. He was the son of Daniel and Eliza Conkel. In 1854 he was united in marriage to Phoebe Kent. To this union 5 children were born; three sons and two daughters. About forty-six years ago his wife passed to the Great Beyond and he has made his home with his children since that time. One son, Daniel, died about fifteen years ago, leaving two sons, William, of this city, and Smith, of near Lucasville; two daughters, Rachel and Selina, of near Lucasville. Uncle John united with the Christian church about 50 years ago, and was a faithful attendant as long as his health permitted. He has been poorly for some time, but not until a week ago did he have to take to his bed. He had a stroke of paralysis and his constitution was too weak to recover. He always had a kind word to those in trouble, and a helping hand to those in need. The funeral services were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the Victor Chapel, with Rev. James Ringlight in charge, with burial at the Bennett cemetery.

The years have quickly rolled away,
And we here still remain;
But he has gone to reap reward,
And we are left again.

The grief we knew a day ago
It soon will pass away;
But God alone the one we love
May visit soon again.

A GRANDCHILD.

Dr. A. G. Sellards

Portsmouth lost one of its most prominent physicians and one of its most highly regarded citizens when death claimed Dr. A. G. Sellards, the final summons coming at the home of his son, Dr. Howard Sellards of 861 Offnere street at 4:20 Tuesday afternoon.

While Dr. Sellards had not been in good health for some time, the news of his death will come as a shock to the legion of friends in this city as many did not realize that his condition was critical. Complications resulted in his death. Loved ones were at his bedside when the end came as for several days Dr. Sellards had been hovering on the brink of death.

Dr. Abraham Goebel Sellards was born in Greenup county, Kentucky, March 16, 1838. When a young man he began to read medicine and he later entered the Miami Medical School of Cincinnati, graduating from this institution in 1868. He then came to Scioto county and for three years practiced medicine in Powellsville. In 1872 he went to Philadelphia and took a post graduate course in the famous Jefferson Medical College of that city. He required two years of his time and he emerged from this school with high honors.

Dr. Sellards then returned to Greenup county, where he was a well known practitioner until 1893 when he moved to Portsmouth and had since ranked high as a physician, citizen and public spirited man. He purchased the practice of Dr. Spaulding, a famous physician in Greenup county and that position and retained it until he sought new honors in a larger field, a field in which he could show his skill as a physician and surgeon.

Dr. Sellards served his flag with honor during the conflict of 61 Cs. As the war closed he was commissioned as captain in the Tenth Cavalry of Kentucky, an organization in which he figured prominently as he was a brave and fearless soldier and knew how to handle men. Dr. Sellards was the son of Andrew Jackson Sellards and Mary Hartley. He was a member of a family of twelve children, four of the boys being physicians and four farmers. His wife passed away just 20 years ago yesterday, going to her final reward on November 16, 1900. Dr. Sellards is survived by two sons, Dr. Howard Sellards of Offnere street and Will S. Sellards of Waller street, this city. He also leaves one brother, E. C. Sellards of Garrison, Ky., and one sister, Mrs. Allen Kitchen of Burlingame, Kansas.

Dr. Sellards had been an elder in the Second Presbyterian church since he came to Portsmouth. When his health permitted he always took an active part in the affairs of the church. He was a true Christian and practiced Christianity just as he did medicine every day of his life. He was a gentleman of the old school, affable and companionable at all times and death found a shining mark when it called Dr. Sellards to his Heavenly home. He never turned any one away who was in need. He gave liberally to those less fortunate than he and gave with a feeling of willingness that showed the real moral fibre of his character. He made hundreds of trips in cold, blustry nights when he knew there would be no recompense, but duty called and he answered.

Dr. Sellards was a member of the Knights Templars of Maysville and of the Academy of Medicine of Portsmouth. He was a great home man and when he had any spare moments he spent them with his family.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Second Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 and the last rites will be in charge of Rev. Geo. P. Horst. Interment will be in Greenlawn.

Going After Ticket Scalpers

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 17—Director Huff, of the University of Illinois board of athlette control today began a special campaign against gambling and ticket speculation. Steps were taken to assure football against the infringement of the monopoly of tickets by unscrupulous seat exploiters and to keep the Illinois-Ohio State football game this Saturday and future Illinois contests free from professional sporting interest. As a measure to keep the University's football atmosphere pure, Director Huff requested that the university council of administration expell any student found guilty of speculating.

The board has agreed to blacklist for ticket purchasing hereafter persons known to have wagered money on the contest.

Director Huff's first striking coup of his campaign was made today when he secured the promise of cigar stores, pool rooms and other establishments not to act as stake holders for bettors.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does not Come Within Two Minutes

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or couch is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Adv.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Co. and The Citizens of Portsmouth and New Boston Are Partners!

The people on the one side regulate through the laws of the State and the company on the other hand operates the property.

Where the utility is under the control of the Public Utilities Commission it is regulated so that the people get the maximum service for the lowest rate, allowing the utility to make only a fair return on its capital.

During the first twenty years that we operated the street railway it was possible for us to have charged under our franchise 10c for a ride between Portsmouth and New Boston, but we voluntarily carried passengers between these two points for six tickets for 25c, and for several years sold 54 tickets for Two dollars. In 1912 we entered into a contract with Portsmouth and in 1914 we entered into a contract with New Boston to sell seven tickets for 25c, and have faithfully carried out our contract to the best of our ability up to the present time. We feel that we have been fair and have endeavored to give the public as low fares as possible with good service.

In the last two or three years the company has been unable to maintain the service at the same standard, because we have not earned the money necessary to do so.

We go before the Councils of the city of Portsmouth and The Village of New Boston this week to present an Ordinance for the purpose of increasing the fare and providing that a large part of the earnings from the street railroad will be used for the purpose of making betterments to the street railroad and increasing its efficiency and service.

Practically every city in Ohio has decided that a street railroad is a public necessity for the development of the community and the convenience of its people, and they have backed their opinion by granting rates of fare that will produce sufficient income to permit their street railroads to operate so as to give the best service. The property is going back under the present fixed rates of fare and will continue to go back faster as time goes on unless we get relief. It is argued by some that improvements should be made before an increase is granted, but this is possible only through increased fares.

The Portsmouth Street Railroad has the lowest rate of fare in the United States, possibly in the world. This is a broad statement, but an investigation will show it to be true. This fact practically excludes us from the money market, and being unable to earn a surplus over operating expenses, from the operation of the street railroad, makes it impossible for us to make the improvements and extensions and give the service that both the public and the company desire.

When the wave of high prices and increased wages arrived we had as good a street railroad as any, and we can again have as good a street railroad, if the public will co-operate with us and allow a reasonable income from the property.

It has been a long time since we had a reasonable income and it will take a large sum of money to put the property back in proper condition. This cannot be done over night. But we will lend every effort and will devote our energies to help, with you, to accomplish this result as soon as practicable.

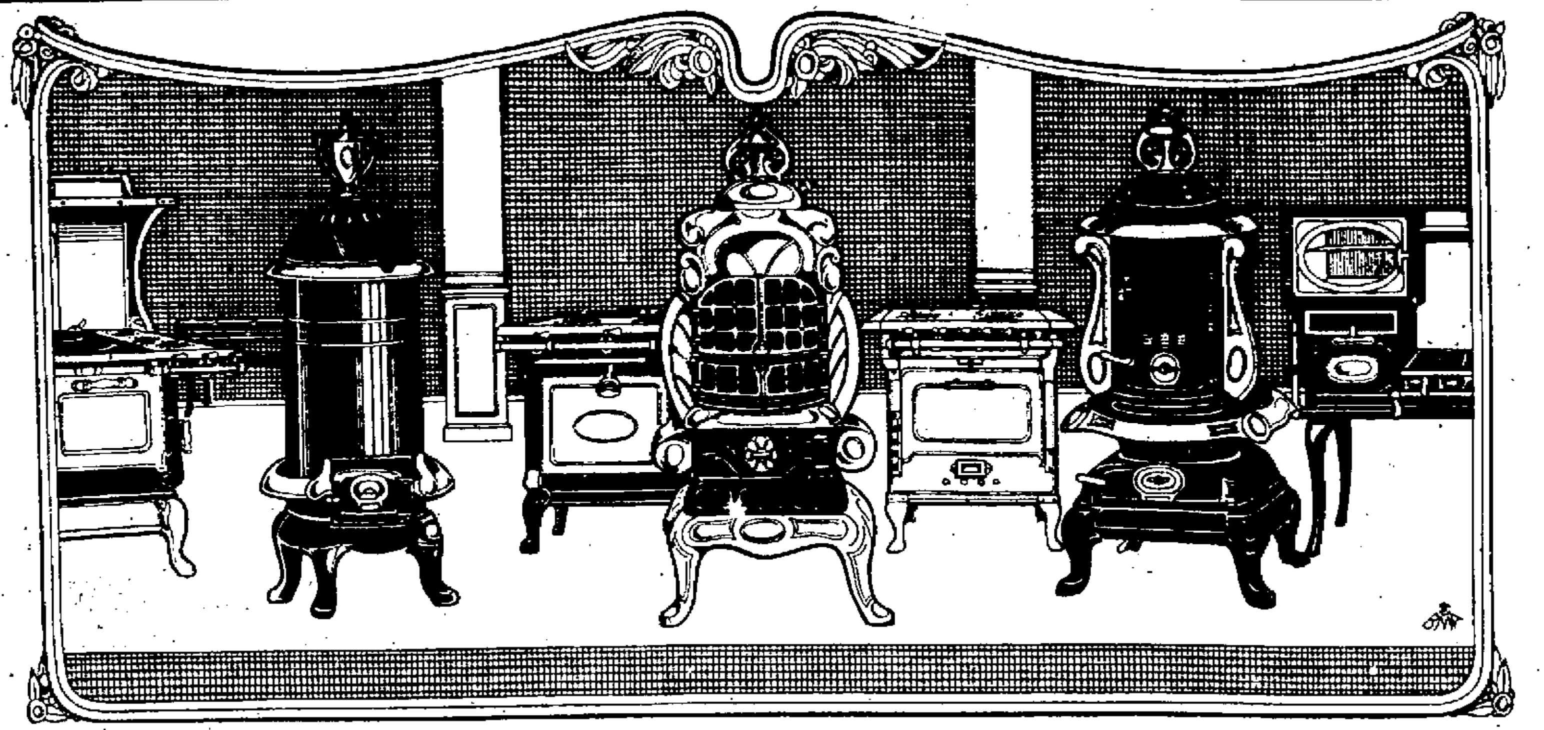

The company has faith in Portsmouth and New Boston, and knows both places are progressive, and we believe both places want to see their public utilities keep pace and grow and develop with these communities and their industries.

The company is in the position of the man who built his house on the sand—the prevailing high prices have seriously crippled our foundation. Let us get together and put our street railroad on a rock foundation so that it will fill our needs and give the citizens the service they are entitled to.

Respectfully

THE PORTSMOUTH STREET RAILROAD AND LIGHT CO.

Papers Take Advertising Contract Fight To The Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16—Application of the Cleveland News for a revision of the suit filed by it against the Standard Amusement company, seeking to compel the latter to pay full advertising rates on a year's contract, was granted by the supreme court today.

The amusement company had a contract with the News at a special rate, if a specified number of inches were used each week.

The News alleged violation of the contract.

The amusement company, according to the petition, refused to furnish further advertising at which the News sought to collect for advertising carried to the date of abrogation at the regular advertising rate.

The News won in municipal court, but was reversed in the court of appeals. The suit now will be heard in the supreme court.

Briefs were filed by five other Ohio newspapers in the application to the supreme court, "as friends of the court." The newspapers were the Columbus Dispatch, Ohio State Journal, Cincinnati Commercial Tribune and Dayton Herald and Dayton Journal. The Dispatch brief declared:

"Newspapers are almost entirely dependent upon advertising to finance publication. Few newspapers obtain from circulation and sales enough to pay the costs of publication. To assure a steady income and sufficient funds to publish daily, and in order to stabilize and determine in advance the amount of advertising to appear in each edition, publishers enter into contracts in advance of publication.

"When advertisers breach their contracts, it is a well established custom to charge the reasonable rate for the period which the advertising has been furnished and published."

To abrogate this custom, the brief asserted, is to "open the doors to wholesale breaches of contract by unscrupulous advertisers and to great financial harm to newspapers."

Washington Eager To See Cabinet At Work

tal questions which as a consequence of the war are before the government departments today and the routine matters of eight years ago.

Many Important Issues Pending

For instance, the treasury department is in many respects even more important than the department of state nowadays because the finances of the whole world bear a relationship to the action of the United States Treasury. A month's time spent by the new Secretary of the Treasury before he actually assumes responsibility would be invaluable.

Indeed there is no reason why all the time between the November election and the inauguration should not be employed by members of the new administration in studying closely the problems they are about to tackle later. The incumbent administration would have no objection to opening all files and furnishing all data. In fact in a good many cases the interests of the United States government alone would be better protected in a good many cases if there were conferences between the two American administrations. In several cases foreigners have attempted to take advantage of the transition period to further their own interests.

Purely Matter of Courtesy

The whole thing is purely a matter of courtesy and is not covered by any particular precedent. In some cases cabinet officers have stayed on after their successors were appointed but while assistance has been helpful, the responsibility of the new officer dates from the moment he takes the oath of office and he has no time for research or investigation. A month or two before the inauguration affords a better opportunity to get hold of routine questions because it is a sort of slack period in government. When once a new administration is installed the avalanche begins. Office seekers and political friends consume time that should otherwise be devoted to learning the ropes. Many a cabinet officer has been in a daze for weeks after he took office simply because he has no time to get his bearings but must take immediate responsibility for everything in his own department.

Would Be Of Aid to Harding

It is also suggested that President-elect Harding would be materially assisted of his ten cabinet officers were already familiar with the detail of pending questions when the first cabinet meeting is called.

There is no political disadvantage in the scheme as the Democratic administration is responsible for everything that is done in the name of the United States government until noon of March 4, but there is a decided advantage to the public at large because the transfer of government nowadays will not be as simple as it used to be before the war. Unless some such plan is adopted the government departments will practically stand still for many weeks while the new cabinet officers try to accustom themselves to their new surroundings and master the complexities of government business.

Are Your Kidneys Working Properly

Not If Your Sleep Is Broken or You Feel Thin and Chilled

Simply because the kidneys themselves do not ache, it is necessary to look sharp to other conditions. Loss of weight, dizziness, swollen legs and ankles, puffed eyelids, rapid pulse, irritable nerves, rheumatism, these are some of the conditions that call for Solvax, the best remedy we have to stimulate kidney action, clear the blood of its poisons and thus enable the system to nourish itself back to strength, good nature and the feeling of being well. Solvax is a guaranteed remedy. For example suppose you are greatly troubled with backache or any other symptom of kidney trouble, druggists Wurster Bros. and other first class druggists will sell Solvax upon the agreement that if you are not satisfied that it is bringing you the desired relief, simply return the package and your money will be returned. No one can afford to overlook Solvax upon these terms.—Adv.

HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE FAILS

The proposed additions to the present Hempstead hospital cannot be built as a result of the recent election, Attorney General Price ruling that the measure required a two-thirds vote as contended by City Solicitor Anselm Skelton.

The question has been in doubt ever since the election. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce, who promulgated the scheme, labored through the campaign with the idea that a majority alone was required for the building of the additions, and when the final reports showed that 6062 votes had been cast for the issue and 3906 against it, they took for granted that the issue had safely passed with a majority of 2056. The next day, however, they were confronted with the possibility that it would take a two-thirds vote, instead of a mere majority to make the addition a reality.

The question was placed before Attorney-General Price at Columbus for settlement and the answer received yesterday indicates that the additions cannot be built unless further steps are taken in the matter.

The hospital committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet sometime this week to decide what shall be done with regard to the additions, whether it shall be allowed to die, or whether other means will be taken to provide the hospital additions.

The city council still has the power to pass the hospital issue, but in that case it would come under the regular operating expenses of the city. Leaders of the hospital campaign point to the fact that the hospital has been self-sustaining for the past eight months and that it will end the year with a balance of from $4000 to $5000 and if some plan could be devised whereby the revenue from the hospital could be paid directly into the city treasury, the additions could be built.

The Act referred to by Attorney-General Price in his decision is as follows:

"The procedure followed in submitting this matter to the electors was that set out in Sections 2629 to 2917, both inclusive, General Code."

These statutes, commonly known as the "Longworth Act," are both enabling and restrictive in character, providing on the one hand that the city council may issue bonds for certain purposes, including erection of hospitals and improvement of existing hospitals, and on the other hand, that bonds issued by the council for all of the authorized purposes shall not in any fiscal year exceed one-half of one percent of the tax value of the property in the municipal corporation, and shall not at any time exceed two and a half percent of such tax value. However, the limitations of one-half percent and two and a half percent may be exceeded, provided that council first obtains authority of the electors of the corporation at a general, or special election—the maximum limit upon the total of all bonds being five percent, and the required vote of the electors being two-thirds of those voting at such an election. In calculating the total of all bonds for the purpose of remaining within the several limitations of one-half of one percent, two and a half percent and five percent. Certain bonds are excluded from this ruling, but the bonds for the proposed hospital additions here do not come under this ruling.

Attorney-General Price said that the terms of the Longworth Act must be fully met in order to afford a basis for a legal issue of bonds under the authority of that act and he stated that he was not aware of any procedure for hospital bonds under any other authority than that given in the Longworth Act.

The issue is apparently dead then, unless revived by the city council or by the Chamber of Commerce by some means. If no action is taken until the next regular election it is possible that the issue will be presented to the voters again at that time.

Chamber of Commerce officials who had charge of the campaign for the additions are certain that the issue would pass if again presented to the voters, as throughout the campaign they labored under the impression that it took but a majority vote to carry the issue, and all the publicity emphasized the fact that it took a majority. At that the issue fell short of the necessary two-thirds vote by only slightly over 200 votes.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Does the British Government allow free use of the Suez Canal to British ships? If not—do they charge equal rates to other countries? C. A. S.

All vessels passing through the canal must pay the same toll. When the canal was first opened the toll was 10 francs per ton and 10 francs for passenger vessels. Various changes were made in succeeding years, and in 1903 the toll was 8 1-2 francs per net ton for loaded vessels, 7 francs for empty ships, and 10 francs per passenger ship. During 1916 the number of ships passed through the canal (both ways) was 2552. During 1918 the number of government ships passing through the canal, rose to 1565. In 1918 28 per cent of the traffic was in ballast, and the suppression of the reduction on 2.50 francs per ton on ships in ballast brought an extra income to the canal of 6,456,765 francs.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a boy of 17 and am in love with a girl of 19, she does not seem to care for me. I tried to make a date with her to take her to a show, and she said she had other arrangements. I found out that she did not have any. Please tell me how I can win her love? WORRIED.

Don't try to win her love, because she does not want to take a boy to raise. Very few girls do. They would rather have a man for a lover.

Dear Miss Wise—If you will remember the first part of this year there was a great deal of talk about a man going to the planet Mars, in a projectle. His name was Claude R. Collins. Is he really going to Mars, or was the whole affair nothing but a big bluff? JAZZ BABY.

He might have thought he was going there, but has probably changed his mind ere this. No human being will ever get to Mars or any other planet.

Dear Dolly—I am a man 21 years of age and I know a girl who is only 13 years of age. Dolly she likes me, but I don't care anything about her. She is too sissy to suit me. Dolly she just hangs around me and can't get rid of her. Dolly tell me what I can do to get rid of her. I don't want anything to do with her. S. B.

Can't you run. If you take to your heels every time you see her coming, I'm sure she can't catch you.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for advice. I have lost my best girl and I want you to tell me how to win her love. She is the most beautiful girl I ever saw. She has black curls, brown eyes and fair complexion. I am worried nearly sick I can neither eat nor sleep so please advise me at once what to do. She turned me down for a fellow that had a Ford and works on the river. I have a horse and buggy and live on a farm. Dolly did you ever have the misfortune of losing a fellow? If you ever did you sure have my sympathy. X. Y. Z.

The quickest way to win her love is to trade your horse and buggy for a "Flivver." I have never lost a "fellow" because I have never had time to bother with one.

Dear Dolly—There is a certain girl in Portsmouth, that I love very dearly but she seems to have grown rather cold toward me of late. I give her presents, and everything she wants, and I also gave her my telephone number, and I also gave her a ride in my auto one night, and I accidentally ran over a great big stone in the road one night, and her head struck the top so hard it almost broke her neck. Do you think she still loves me? Dolly what would be nice to give her for Christmas to kinda smooth things over. She won't speak to me any more, but a fortune teller told me she still loves me, and hopes to be mine some day. Now Dolly please give me your best advice, and I do hope she will call me up. CARL.

Since she seems to have a stiff neck and a sore head, a bottle of liniment or a jar of salve would make a soothing Christmas present.

Dear Miss Wise—I thought I would write you for a little advice. I am a girl of 17 and I am keeping company with two fellows, one of them owns an "Overland" car and makes about $100 per month. The other is a railroader and makes about $150 per month. Both are fine young men. Now Dolly please advise me which one to accept. Print in Saturday Times if possible. A TIMES READER.

If you have no choice, better accept the one that pops the question.

Dear Dolly—Will you please give me John D. Rockefeller's address in tonights Times? PEGGY.

Address him New York City, N. Y.

Dear Miss Wise—I believe you can answer any question asked you so I am going to ask you what to do for my little dog that has been choked for some time. If you can't tell me please direct me to someone who can.

SOUTH WEBSTER READER.

What ever is done for choking must be done quickly. If the dog is worth anything to you, you could bring it in to a veterinary surgeon. If not better put it out of its misery with a dose of chloroform or a shot gun. Don't let it suffer.

SOCIETY

Before a background of artistically arranged palms, chrysanthemums and ferns, in front of the altar at Holy Redeemer church, a double wedding was solemnized this morning at 7:30, with Rev. Father Geckle of Cincinnati reading the nuptial mass, uniting in marriage Miss Helen Yuenger and Mr. J. Oscar Mantel, and Miss Frances Wills to Mr. Russell Haley.

Two dainty flower girls, Anna Katherine Rudity and Alice Yuenger of Chillicothe, in fairy-like costumes of organdie, preceded the bridal couples to the altar, carrying clusters of chrysanthemums.

Miss Yuenger, the daughter of Mr. Christian Yuenger, Chillicothe, was attractive in her wedding gown of white embroidered satin, with a veil of tulle, complete with an arm-bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Wills wore a beautiful frock of white satin with trimmings of pearl beads, a filmy veil of tulle, and carried a cluster of bride's roses. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wills of Seventh street. The ushers were George McMahon, Henry Burling, Arthur Haley of Chillicothe and Alphonse Yuenger of Chillicothe.

Just before the ceremony Mr. G. E. Kean played a program of wedding music, accompanying Miss Margaret Kilgore and Mrs. George Lauter, who sang "Ave Maria" and other appropriate songs for the occasion.

USE IODINE FOR YOUR RAW SORE THROAT

Shut Off the Dangerous Cold or Influenza Before It Gets Started—Won't Stain.

There is really nothing better for a raw, sore throat than the application of a little Iodine. But don't use the old plain tincture of Iodine of course, for that stains and sometimes irritates your skin and is nasty and disagreeable to use. Instead get a small jar of Lanolated Iodine, in ointment form—which is practically stainless, never irritates and when spread on the throat with the fingers, rapidly penetrates direct to the sore, inflamed membranes, relieves swelling, lessens congestion, drives out soreness, pain, and prevents the development of serious trouble.

Lanolated Iodine retains all the healing, analgesic and antiseptic properties of straight Iodine with none of its disagreeable or dangerous features. It makes a famous "rub on" for Gout, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sore Muscles, Swollen Joints, Neuralgia, Sprains or Bruises. In treating Colds, Sore Throat, Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, etc., its rapid healing power seems little short of magic. Most folks know the value of Iodine—make sure next time you need it to get Lanolated Iodine. You will never use it again in any other form. Get a trial jar today at Jas. A. Hazen's, Fisher & Streich's or any reliable drug store.—Adv.

BILLY WHISKERS

By Frances Trego Montgomery

"And where am I now?" went on Billy, still talking to himself. "I hardly know yet. The manager evidently thinks because he gave Dick that pony and treated the rest of the family so handsomely that I am his property for the rest of the summer. Maybe I am and maybe I am not. It all depends how I am served and whether or no I like the business on better acquaintance with it. I'll try it for a while at any rate. It looks to me now as though I might have a lot of fun out of it. I have been living pretty quietly at Cloverleaf for a long time, and I suspect that I am getting rusty and beginning to look more or less like a farmer. I'm too young for that yet a while.

"This position will give me a chance to see no end of new places. I can get well acquainted with all the animals and perhaps I can do something to make their lives pleasanter—I will if I can, but I must be careful never to go as close to any of their cages as I did to the monkey's this afternoon. What if it had been the lion's cage instead, there would be no Billy Whiskers here now."

The very thought of it made him tremble all over.

"And there there is the big elephant I wonder what he thinks of me now. I hope he saw me in the ring and knows that I really do amount to something. If not, he must suppose I am a dunce for having thought his trunk a hitching strap," and Billy giggled to himself again at the very remembrance of that mistake.

With pleasant thoughts and plans like these Billy Whiskers finally fell asleep.

It did not seem to him that he had much more than closed his eyes when he was aroused by one of the keepers who said to his helper that it was time to prepare the big goat for the evening performance, that the manager had said that he was to be given a bath.

At first Billy was far from pleased at being disturbed. He was still sleepy and he felt that about the last thing he wanted then was a bath.

Just at that moment he happened to glance at his right side and saw how gray with dust he was. He knew too by past experiences how much good a bath would do him. It was worth more than a night's rest he had often said. More than that, Billy was very proud of his appearance as we all know, and he now felt not a little ashamed that he had been seen in the ring in the afternoon in such an unkempt condition.

"If they call me handsome with all this dirt on me, what will they think when I am spick and span?"

So Billy decided to make no trouble but to submit to the bath without a rumpus.

It was lucky he did for otherwise he would have been kidnapped and there is no telling what might have become of him.

(You'll hear tomorrow of his narrow escape from being kidnapped.)

Her Own Career

(BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS)

GRANDMERE'S PREDICTION.

Gwenda Channing had been born and raised in Millersville, Vermont. She came of a good New England stock, and had been raised in the fear of the Lord. Her mother was an energetic and good woman, who had married late in life, much to her own surprise as well as Jim Channing's, for she had never been pretty nor in any way his type of woman, as he had many times told himself in the privacy of his own thoughts. Still she had made him a good wife and helped to make him prosperous.

Gwenda had been as much of a surprise to Mrs. Channing as her own marriage for although she had taught school for many years before her betrothal to Jim Channing, and had as a consequence become used to children and the handling of them, she had never dreamed of having one of her own. Being a good woman, she was of course delighted, when at thirty-five the Lord permitted her the joys of maternity and, filled with a new awe and wonder at the workings of both the Lord and nature, she had settled down to raising Gwenda in a fervor of gratitude.

She was not the motherly type, nor was she in any way artistic, but her hot biscuit and culinary achievements were the talk of the county, and she was a leader of women in every way. No club nor mothers' meeting was complete without Mrs. Channing somewhere on its board. And no tenant was ever quite a success without her executive ability to make things move, as well as her sharp tongue and eye to keep all members in order. Needless to say that she was necessary, but not loved by the community at large.

Gwenda's childhood had been a well ordered rather than a happy one, and her girlhood had been spent in learning many and astonishing duties of home-making.

Her father, Jim Channing, had started out in life with a fund of humor and enthusiasm, but life with his elderly and austere wife had long since killed any lightness or joyousness in his nature. He had been allowed little or no say in the upbringing of his own daughter, nor even any real intimacy with her, so after the first few years he had given up the attempt to understand or be companionable with either his wife or Gwenda and retired to the cultivation of his broad fields in a sombre silence.

The one bright spot in Gwenda's whole life had been her grandmother, "Grandmere," Gwenda had called her, despite Mrs. Channing's frantic efforts to keep her from even thinking in such foreign terms.

But little beautiful French grandmere had been taken from Gwenda's life very early and these remained but a dim and lovely memory of her in the heart of the girl.

Jim Channing's father "made a colossal mistake," according to the people of Millersville, by bringing home a French girl-wife after one of his many trips round the world. And the shy, black-eyed Suzanne had met with much coldness when first she had come to live with her husband's people. By degrees she had won them over, however, for no one could help loving her for her sweet face and gracious ways.

And is was Grandmere Suzanne that Gwenda resembled, much to her father's delight, for he had loved his mother passionately despite his wife's disapproval. It was a final proof to him that the Lord was on his side when He saw to it that Jim's daughter took after any one as splendid as his mother.

Gwenda's love for her grandmother had been terrific. Everything in her had responded and gone out to the romantic-eyed woman, who in turn had adored the child with all the intensity of her nature.

Almost her last words to Gwenda, shortly before she died, had been, "Never forget the love of your grandmere, my darling, and always remember that you are like her and will grow up to be even as she was, for you are not of these people, my Gwendre, never. And some day when you are a big girl you will go to my country and you will love my people and they will love you. Never forget this."

Her words had lived in Gwenda's heart through the years—and were partly instrumental in causing her to decide to seek her fortune outside her home town—which decision she had come to for some time before our story commences.

(To be continued.)

Mrs. Emil Arthur and daughter, Rowena, and Mrs. Clara Millhuff have returned home after a visit with Mrs. Arthur's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burle Burke of Franklin Furnace.

J. E. Pugh of Washington, D. C., is the guest of his brother, Charles Pugh, of Highland avenue.

Mrs. Frances C. Matthews and daughter, Miss Gertrude Matthews, of Jackson, are the guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. George Matthews, of Rose Ridge, for the winter.

Mrs. Burle Burke of Franklin Furnace has returned home from Columbus, where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers, and her mother, Mrs. Matilda Chaffin, who is seriously ill. Mrs. Chaffin formerly lived here, but has lived in Columbus since spring with her daughter, Mrs. Gus Brown.

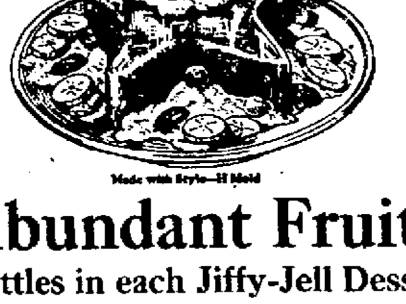

Mrs. J. A. Kaufer and daughter, Eloise, of South Bend, Ind., are here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Serey of Fifth street.

The senior choir of the Second Presbyterian church will meet for rehearsal this evening immediately after prayer service. The pastor's choir will meet on Friday evening at 6:15 at the church.

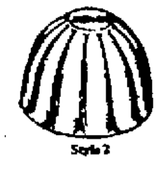

Mr. and Mrs. Emerald Clark of Tenth street entertained with a winter picnic last evening. After the lunch, the time was spent with cards and dancing. Those who enjoyed their hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rheinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Freytag and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crisp, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Clark, Misses Mae Myers, Lucy Deutchel, Edna Groheim, Elanore Montavon and Opal Crawford.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Assurances of leading banking interests that the domestic financial situation is fundamentally sound and another brisk advance in British exchange stimulated a moderate demand for stocks at the opening of today's session. Investment rails scored the most substantial gains, Northern Pacific rising 1¾ points and Southern Pacific a large fraction. Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, General electric, Crucible steel and American sugar comprised the other firm to strong issues. Rubber and copper shares were again inclined however, to reflect adverse conditions in their respective industries.

Prices broke sharply at midday, further liquidation and short selling effecting severe declines in special stocks. The break soon embraced industrials and rails, some of which fell under recent low records.

Gains were cancelled when shorts began a series of drives against Crucible steel, shippings and various specialties. Crucible was attacked on rumors of an indefinite postponement of the long deferred stock dividend. American International continued to react on the lower prices reported for ship charters, rubbers became heavier on the reduced Ajax dividend and Coca Cola was under pressure of the sort that accompanied the recent suspension of the dividend. Leaders among rails industrials and oils fell back 1 to 2 points but rallied variably before noon. Call money opened at eight percent and exchange on London added to its early advance.

Trading in stocks today began with a firm tone, but this was soon succeeded by renewed selling for both accounts in which many minimum quotations for the year were recorded. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—Wheat underwent a setback in price today largely as a result of aggressive selling on the part of speculators. The selling appeared to be based on opinion that bullish factors had been well discounted by recent upturns. Declines, however, met with rather persistent commission house buying. Initial quotations, which varied from 1½c lower to ⅛c advance, with December 1.57½ to 1.58 and March 1.76⅝ to 1.77, were followed by a material sag all around and then something of a rally.

Corn gave way with wheat. After opening 1@1½c lower, including December at 73¾ to 74, the market fell a little further and then reacted somewhat.

General selling set in later and prices dropped to the lowest point yet this season, closing heavy at 2½ to 2¾c net decline with December 72c to 72¼.

Oats were governed by the action of other grain, starting unchanged to 1½c down, and continuing weak.

Provisions lacked support, except November lard which was in demand from shorts.

Subsequently, purchasing supposed to be over the east, absorbed the surplus in the pit, and with strength in sterling exchange helped to lift prices but the effect failed to last, the market descending lower than before. The close was nervous, 2 to 5c net lower, with December 1.81½ to 1.81⅝ and March 1.72¾ to 1.73.

JACKSON NEWS

JACKSON, Nov. 16—Last Friday when an important trial was in progress at the court house, a young lad sat just outside of the Bar, oblivious to all his surroundings and the proceedings, for he was reading a book furnished to him by Probate Judge Frank Delay, in whose charge he was.

The lad was Vancil Ingall aged sixteen, son of Louis B. Ingall a well known citizen of Beavertown in Pike county, and he was arrested Nov. 10 for cashing forged checks. The affidavit was filed before Justice William S. Baker of Jackson but when it was learned that he is only sixteen years old he was turned over to the jurisdiction of Probate Judge Delay, Nov. 11. He took the case under observation for a few days, allowing the lad to be at large and read or entertain himself in any way he saw fit. It developed that reading was all that he cared to do.

The offense with which he was charged was the cashing of two checks which he had drawn himself, one for thirty five dollars signed by Reece Edwards of Oak Hill on the First National Bank of Jackson payable to Dave Morgan, and one of fifty dollars on the Citizens Savings and Trust Co. of Oak Hill signed by M. P. Tope the the Oak Hill merchant and payable to Morgan. Reece Edwards named above is supposed to be Reece N. Edwards proprietor of Oak Hill's only hotel. The checks were cashed Nov. 6, the first at the Citizens Bank in this city and the other at the Iron bank in this city, neither of them at the Bank upon which it was drawn.

When told of the charges against him he acknowledged the acts, and his statements so far as known when examined, were all truthful, for he tried to conceal nothing.

When the case was investigated the Court found that the lad wanted better clothes, in order to turn in the best circles. He takes unusual pride in his person, and felt that his father could not buy the kind of clothes he deserves. It was found also that he is a great reader, and lives in a book atmosphere all the time. He reads good books only is familiar with Shakespeare and Homer, had an Iliad when brought to town, has read Robert L. Stevenson, Booth Tarkington and such authors to such an extent, that in his conversation he uses only book language, employing such words as ultmit, retire, and other stilted forms in ordinary conversation. His demeanor suggests that of the college professor, and his speech has in a way estranged him from his fellow youth. It developed also that he had learned about drawing checks from the instructions received in the High School which he has been attending. Judge Delay states that the lad uses the best English that he has ever heard from the mouth of a boy.

The Court sentenced the lad to the Mansfield Reformatory but suspended sentence on these terms. He must leave school at once, secure employment and pay $25.00 a month to repay the money which he secured on the checks and the cost of the case amounting to $96.40 altogether. He was released in the custody of near relatives, well known citizens of this county, during good behavior. All hope that the wished for result will happen.

Rev. Martin Luther Stone and his young son Russell who had been visiting friends in this city where he served formerly as pastor of the First Baptist church returned today to Portsmouth where he will visit friends before going back to Norfolk, Virginia, where he has been located for some time.

A marriage license was granted today to William Dennison to wed Miss Catherine Curron both of Wellston.

A large number of young men from other counties have wedded Jackson county women in the past few weeks. The last were Preston Earl Leach of Hamden in Vinton county who secured a license to wed Miss Jessie May Gill of Wellston, Walter Herbert Wallace of Lawrence county who secured a license to wed Miss Pauline Warman of Wellston, and Paul Roth of Pedro in Lawrence county who secured a license to wed Miss Lina B. Exline of Jackson Route 4.

License Refused

Four people from Greenfield township in Gallia county came to Jackson last week to secure licenses to be married. Walter Crudolph who wished to wed Maud Watson and Edison Gallimore who wished to wed her sister Nellie Watson. Judge Delay declined to issue licenses on statutory grounds.

Herbert L. White of Youngstown, Ohio, spent the week end with his mother Mrs. John W. White and sister Miss Laura White in this city.

For the pleasure of Mrs. Charles R. Oakley, who celebrated her birthday anniversary Tuesday, The Loyal Berean Class of the First Christian church was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. E. W. Bagey, on Second street, with Mrs. Charles Bibble and Miss May Stewart assisting hostesses. Thirty members were present for the enjoyable affair and presented the honor-guest with many lovely gifts, including a birthday cake.

The Sale Personality Made

This isn't a sale of "we" but a sale of "I." Every claim for value of merchandise or genuineness of reduction is signed by an individual who will be held responsible by the firm and the public for everything he says. Enthusiasm will not be permitted to get away with one's judgment when it comes to talking about bargains. The value and price reduction have got to be present. Read each department manager's story of reductions. It will pay you.

Department Managers' Sale

Each Buyer Has His Say

This sale has been given into the hands of the Department Managers. Each buyer has brought his own personality, enthusiasm and individual ability into this sale. This announcement records briefly some of the news of the merchandise offerings with which this sale starts, and while quantities hold out. New features will come forward as the days go by. We can see from the immensity of the reductions that the sale will be one long to be remembered by our patrons.

Now Watch The Prices Fall In This Big, Unique And Interesting Dept. Managers Sale.

Beginning Thursday mornig and continuing until the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Now for a new kind of a sale. A sale run by so many different department heads and each vieing with the other to make his own department the winner in sales. Each manager has a free rein and makes his own reductions and writes his own ad. Read what each manager has to say regarding his own department. He alone is responsible for his reductions. You may be sure each one is doing a lot of deep thinking and planning as to just how much he can afford to cut this or that article, and how many specials he will have to have to win this good natured contest among department managers.

Expectancy is high in the various departments. Selling interest is keyed to a pitch that will lift this sale out of the ordinary. Each department is concentrating on volume—volume that is accomplished only by offering merchandise of the most unusual character at reduced prices as noteworthy as you could expect.

It is going to be interesting and profitable to watch how they work out their plans.

Good luck to them.

R. W. ANDERSON
Silks and Dress Goods

It is said that an open confession is good for the soul. I must confess that I am overstocked in Silks, Woolens, Colored Cottons, Dress Trimmings and Notions. For this reason, and the further reason hat the mills have revised prices, I have reduced prices on most of th merchandise in the departments I manage. I enter this Department Managers' Sale knowing full well that other managers in the store are trying to get the bulk of the patronage by heavy price reductions. Their sections will, no doubt, be busy, but I have done some price cutting myself, on merchandise I know you will want. I predict that the south aisle of the first floor, where these specials are to be found, will show the greatest activity in the store. I claim that if prices talk, as some folks say, they will surely say farewell to the merchandise sold by Misses Kugelman, Walden, Hunter and Johnson and by Mrs. West, Mrs. Dodge and Mrs. Smith. Let the following prices greet you tomorrow morning:

As I enter this Department Managers' Sale, I don't have to have a spy-glass to see that it is going to be a good-natured race to see which one gets the biggest volume of business. The thought uppermost in the customer's mind is, where will their dollars buy the most. As manager of shoes and men's haberdashery I can see that my stocks are 'way too heavy. The boss said to show him dollars instead of pretty shoes and stylish men's furnishings and I propose to do it. The other Managers say they have some mighty specials and I know that they have, but I don't intend to take any of their dust when it comes to this sale for I have a free rein at reducing prices and I have gone at it with a vengeance. Just listen to these prices and values talk.

Big Specials

In a Department Managers' Sale like this where there seems to be a good natured rivalry among the various buyers, some one will have to win and I think it might as well be one W. W. Anderson as any of the rest of them. At any rate I have made my plans to that effect and with a touch of winter at hand to produce the desire for winter ready-to-wear, my reductions will guide aright the thrifty shoppers who will be looking for just such under-priced offerings as I am now advertising. With the specials I have provided, I am sure a heavy and hearty response will be forthcoming. Besides being very timely this sale of ready-to-wear will be doubly appealing because most of the merchandise is new, having been just received from the makers. I confidently expect my ready-to-wear sale to be one of the big drawing cards of the Department Managers' Sale.

A Great Sale of Coats That will Drive Hundreds of Women to This Store Looking For My Bargains

When it was decided to hold a Department Managers Sale, I immediately got our New York office on the wire and told them something like this: "Look here, now, we are going to have a Department Manager's Sale here in Portsmouth, and I've got to have a big lot of women's coats with prices so low that they will sell on sight. Get busy there in New York among some of those big makers of fine coats and see if you can't find a factory that is unloading on the new low price basis, or even lower, and see if you can't send me out a whole flock of coats that will make things hum in my department."

The answer I got seemed too good to be true. But when the coats came in I chuckled with glee. Such coats as they did send me. Great, luxurious coats, rich in style, workmanship and texture, all made after the latest fashions and just the models hundreds of women in Portsmouth will want. They are positively irresistible, and the special low prices I have been able to put on them make them doubly tempting.

There are coats of Hollvia, Sweline, and Velour and many with the desirable big fur collars and lined to a queen's taste. Everything to be desired in a woman's coat is in these. And now as to price. During this sale I will offer:

Women's Coats Valued to $55 for $39.50
Women's Coats Valued to $75 for $49.50

When the General Manager said, "Boys, go to it and have a sale of your own," I was ready to go in a minute. Each department manager can do as he pleases in making reductions. What a chance for me! I have about twenty-five thousand dollars worth of stock. I would rather have only about fifteen. I want the difference to vanish and have put prices on it that will do the work. Talk about specials, you just keep your eye on the center and north aisles of the main floor and watch things hum. If there are any better bargains in the store than my department is offering they haven't been shown as yet.

As manager of the Rug and Drapery Department I am confronted with a condition that is not particularly desirable at this season of the year. That is, I have too many rugs on hand. However, this Department Managers' Sale gives me the opportunity of relief. The General Manager said not a word about profits, he said to reduce stock. That was instruction enough for me, and I am going to clear out a great many rugs at prices far below market value. The fact is that I am reducing prices on the entire stock of rugs and if you want to get in on these new low prices come right along before the choice rugs are picked over. There'll be many other specials of interest too on this big fourth floor, for I have made it a point to see that no customer looking for bargains shall be disappointed. The Little Stranger

By BEULAH ARLINGTON

(©, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Dependable," was the word Grace Levington used in speaking to her father of Dr. Guy Roberts, who had attended the invalid through a serious siege of sickness, had been successful in his ministrations and had presented a bill for services so moderate that, while Grace felt grateful, there were misgivings as to the motives of the young physician.

"He has certainly favored us, father," said Grace, "and yet it would humiliate me if I thought he felt it is his duty to help us along during our present poverty, which is certainly acute."

"You mistake Dr. Roberts," declared Mr. Levington. "Remember, you acted as a nurse to his sick mother when he could get no one else, and he says you were quite as efficient as a graduated professional."

"But he paid me more than liberally for my time," submitted Grace.

"And feels as grateful for what you did as we do for the way he is treating us. Don't be too sensitive, Grace. He is a humane, kind spirited gentleman and recognizes in us people who understand and appreciate him."

If the Levingtons were in money straits and barely able to get along with what Grace earned as a district school teacher, Dr. Guy Roberts had his financial troubles as well. He had made a mistake in settling at Brompton, for there were already two doctors there. Each held the clientele of a social clique and the newcomer throve poorly. If it were not for patients he endeared who needed charitable assistance and other good work that came his way, he would have removed the second year he began in debt and with little profitable practice.

Once a year the big circus came.

The event meant something to Grace, as pretty a lass as the town held. She was eighteen, deeply devoted to her aged father and mother and a thrifty and expert housekeeper. Mrs. Levington had a small annuity and this with a stipend her husband earned as town clerk, with Grace's earnings, was all they had to depend upon for an income. When the circus came it always spread its canvas upon the lot next to the humble home of the Levingtons. One season Grace happened to do some mending for some of the lady equestriennes and the following season they remembered her and gave her some additional work.

Again the big show came, and the prodigal lady members of the circus group this time brought not only their own apparel, but a sweet faced little girl of nine for whom they asked Grace to repair a part of her wardrobe. They called her Leona, and Grace was in love with her as she sat watching her at the sewing machine and answering her questions as to her part in the performance. It seemed that little Leona was the infant prodigy of the show. She had been taught to ride bare back horses and do a trapeze stunt, and with one so small and graceful this won her great plaudits.

Grace overheard two of the circus women speak of Leona. It seemed that her mother had been an equestrienne before her, but had died in an accident. The father, a coarse, brutal fellow given to continual dissipation, held a contract with the circus people as to Leona and lived upon her earnings. It was said that Leona had a wealthy grandfather who would gladly have taken her in charge, but the mercenary father refused to allow the subsidence of his income gained through the child's hard work.

Grace was sewing when late that evening she was shocked by heavy footsteps and excited voices at the door, and opened it to be confronted by three men who bore the maimed and insensible form of little Leona. The child had fallen under the feet of a horse, had been trodden on and was a cripple for life.

The proprietor of the circus gave Grace some money and asked her to send for a doctor. The father of little Leona came once to see her, and shrugged his shoulders as he disclaimed any further responsibility as to her care, and departed with the circus folks.

Grace practically adopted the little sufferer and Dr. Roberts gave to her the full benefit of his professional skill. By the end of six months Leona was able to get about, but would always limp, Dr. Roberts said. The mutual interest in the child drew the doctor and Grace in closer harmony of spirit, and had his practice increased he would have asked Grace to share his lot, poor and humble though it was. One day there appeared a stranger, a benevolent faced old man who announced himself as the grandfather of little Leona.

"I learned of her accident and abandonment by her unnatural father only a week ago," he said. "I will be glad to take the child and provide for her the best in life."

But when the grandparent saw how content Leona was with her new friends he changed his purpose.

"She loves you both, she is happy here. I wonder if we can't arrange to have her stay," he suggested.

And his money was as free as his sense of Leona's welfare. He insisted on settling a generous sum on these kind protectors of the dear little one, he remained at their wedding, made them a regular monthly visit thereafter, and joy and comfort came to Leona and her loving friends to whom she had become the light and gladness of an ideal existence.

Primitive Pottery.

Many primitive races seem to have burnished their pottery before it was fired, in order to get a glossy surface, and in other cases the surface was rendered waxy with resinous substances, which were often colored. There are only four kinds of glaze. Those used by the Egyptians, Syrians and Persians were of alkaline type and most uncertain in their workings. Lead glaze is one of the best and most widespread in use for ordinary purposes.

Look Out For Rheumatism As Winter Approaches

If you have had the disease for any length of time; you have doubtless resorted to the mis'eading treatment of liniments and lotions, in an effort to get relief from its torturing pains. But you want more than mere temporary relief. You want to be freed from the shackles of a disease that will bind you hand and foot.

So many cases of Rheumatism come from a tiny disease germ that infests the blood, that physicians are beginning to realize that this source of the disease is becoming quite prevalent. Of course a disease that has its source in the blood cannot be reached by local remedies applied to the surface.

One remedy that has given splendid results is the treatment of Rheumatism is S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy that has been sold by druggists for more than fifty years. S.S.S. acts by driving out of the blood the disease germ that causes Rheumatism, thus affording real relief.

Begin taking S.S.S. today and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 827 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens Then She Tried This Plan.

Season. Don't Miss It.

Lew Cody, the famous love-making star of the screen, finds all sorts of amusing and serious adventures in "Occasionally Yours," a Robertson-Cole super-special which opens at the Exhibit theatre tonight.

This is Mr. Cody's third starring vehicle for Robertson-Cole and presents him in a role equally as interesting as the characters her portrayed in "The Beloved Cheater," and "The Butterfly Man." The story of the picture is one of romance, yet full of realism, and entertains while it instructs. It is the type of screen play that will linger long in the memory.

Mr. Cody is surrounded by a cast of the first water. Betty Blythe, a leading woman of the screen who has won recognition for her ability as an actress and for her beauty, plays the leading feminine role. As a vivacious young widow she is at the very peak of her art.

Elinor Fair, the winsome dark eyed Southern lass, who scored a success as the invalid girl in "The Miracle Man," plays an ingenue lead.

UNIVERSAL JEWEL PRODUCTION DE LUXE
"The Devil's Pass Key"

She was really weeping. At first he had thought her surprise feigned, her anger a bit of clever acting and her sobs mere pretense. To his intense surprise Captain Rex Strong realized that this woman was different. She was not the type which he had been led to expect would meet him as a result of Madame Malot's adroit scheming. He became suddenly conscious of a deep and growing respect of this beautiful American woman who apparently had innocently and ignorantly allowed herself to become entangled in the net which the unscrupulous modiste, Malot had woven for her own advantage.

The situation was most delicate and embarrassing. The young army attache wanted to help and comfort the woman whom he had misjudged and deeply wounded, yet he knew that his own words and acts had already given her reason to doubt the sincerity of anything he might say or do.

"Please forgive me," he begged. "I thought you were expecting me; that you wanted me to come. Madame Malot wrote—" He paused, for it was evident that his words only deepened her distress. "I know what I'll do," he added, after a moment's thought. I'll lend you the money.

She raised her head and gazed at him through tear-wet, childish eyes. "No, no," she whispered, brokenly, as he turned to the table, drew forth his card case and check book and prepared to write out a check. "I could not accept it. I'll—think of some other way. Perhaps I'll tell my husband only —." She paused, nervously and watched him like a frightened child while he gathered up his coat, hat and gloves and turned toward the door. She did not notice that he forgot to replace the wallet containing his papers. That remained on the table.

Who found the wallet, who examined the papers it contained, what was the surprising nature of their contents and to what extent the young wife was compromised and involved in the deep laid scheme of the arch plotters form the basis of the new Universal-Jewel photodrama, "The Devil's Pass Key," which will open at the Lyric for the rest of the week.

Mix is supported by a special cast of Fox players in this five part photoplay feature.

A Lavish Production Which Entrances The Eye and Lightens the Heart is "A Light Woman," Robert Brownings Immortal Classic Which Comes To The Eastland Theatre Tonight. —1 Day Only—The Most Unique and Brilliant Picture of the Year.

Program for Tonight

A—Musical Prologue to the Feature.
B—Feature—"A Light Woman."
C—Prizma Film—"Monte Carlo."
D—Billy Franey in "Getting His Goat."

An unusually strong cast of talented players will appear in the American production of Robert Browning's classic poem, "A Light Woman," which is to have its first run tonight at the Eastland. The cast includes Charles Clary, whose work on the screen always hits the mark and wins the admiration of the most conservative critics; Helen Jerome Eddy, who appeared with George Beban and later with Sessue Hayakawa, and who has recently been acclaimed a star; Claire Du Brey, the most finished and convincing "vampire" of the silver sheet, and Hallam Cooley, the matinee idol of the screen, who in "A Light Woman" is given a role to his taste as a youthful Don Quixote who reforms just in the nick of time.

The story which gives these talented players unusual dramatic scope, is an aged-old theme, tightened by Robert Browning's artistic touch—the story of a youth who, determined to taste the fullness of life regardless of the heartaches of his devoted parents and his adoring fiancee, finds himself the willing victim to the seductive charms of a beautiful wanton.

The Better Part

By MURIEL LEE

(©, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

Love and charity had played important parts in the career of Mark Wallace, and he had entered into the sentiments of the same with earnestness and faith. Upon only one woman had he bestowed the fervor of a steadfast affection, had basked in the sunlight of her smiles for a brief period, and then she had flitted like some beautiful bird and he was left desolate.

Esther Wayne had been very friendly to Wallace, and had he been of a more venturesome nature he might never have lost her. Unexpectedly Miss Wayne had become heiress to a fortune. It took her away for a month, settling up an estate. In the meantime extravagant stories of her wealth came to the ears of Wallace. She and her young brother, Sidney, were to return and build a fifty thousand dollar mansion, rumor said. It placed the Waynes on a pedestal of social and moneyed prestige that fairly daunted Wallace. He was poor, obscure—how could he ever hope to win this rare paragon of beauty and fortune. He decided that it would be best for his peace of mind to go away and try to forget her.

This in fact he never did, but he was somewhat buoyed up by his success in securing a position in the city at three times his former country town salary. He made steadfast progress and this was well, for it took his mind away from sorrow and despair. He settled down to a quiet, steady going life and sought in kindly deeds a compensation for the loss of love.

If he had only known it, Esther Wayne had come back to her native town hoping to find him there, and disappointed and more than that when she learned that he had left the place permanently. It was natural that she should decide that he had never cared for her outside of casual acquaintanceship. For a long time Esther cherished her own dream of affection, then sought to banish its memories and married a man, Eris Danvers, who sought her only for her fortune, dissipated nearly half of it and left her a widow at the end of a year.

Esther had gone through an experience that ages the soul, and the old home and old friends too had grown distasteful to her. She removed to the city where Sidney, then only ten years of age, could receive the benefits of a superior education. They made their home with a family who accommodated a few chosen boarders. The son of the family, at table one evening, made a remark that suddenly opened the flood gates of memory with Esther in a strangely acute way.

"I've got the happiest man in the world for my boss, they tell me," spoke the young man. "He is the manager of our firm and I heard his history today. He has been with the house for five years and his name is Mark Wallace."

Esther was startled and a flutter of emotion crossed her face, but she was unobserved by those present. She was eager to hear more.

"He's the friend of everybody in the establishment and jolly as can be—always a word of cheer from the old bachelor, as they call him. One of the fellows at one desk told me that Mr. Wallace was disappointed in love years ago, and that he has never looked at a woman since his first love disappointed him. I just tell you this because he doesn't act like the forlorn pining lover with a broken heart. He just pulled himself together and sought a new line of interest—being good to others. They say that from the first day he came to the store he faithfully put aside exactly half of his earnings. Every Saturday night he starts out to spend this surplus, dresses up in the most commonplace way, goes down into the slums and hunts for poor families in trouble, neglected children, the sick, the weak, the unfortunate. Makes a system and a business of it. He has compensated for the loss of the love of one woman by cherishing that of the whole world."

Esther managed to see Wallace several times during the next month, but always at a distance. He had improved with the years. The beneficent expression of his calm, yet pleasant face told of an unselfish and a sacrificing soul.

There opened up no way that brought them together, although Esther looked for that welcome materialization. Then her constant thoughts of Wallace were broken in upon by an occurrence that distracted her. Sidney Wayne did not return from school one day, and no trace could be secured of him. The police were satisfied that a band of city ruffians had abducted and were holding him in captivity to force his wealthy sister to ransom him.

Esther was heartsick with anxiety and dread. She was mourning over the new trouble that had come to her when one afternoon she heard welcome tones in the hall below her room and she rushed down stairs to fold her lost brother in her loving arms.

And with him was Mark Wallace and soon Esther knew that through his acquaintance with the poor and lowly there had eventuated a clew to the whereabouts of the kidnaped boy.

"I have always shared my love with you, Wallace," confessed Esther a month later when reunion had brought a mutual happy understanding. "Let me now share your life of good deeds and hand in hand, and soul to soul forget the mistakes of the past."

When Spring Rolls Around Work Will Begin On Stadium

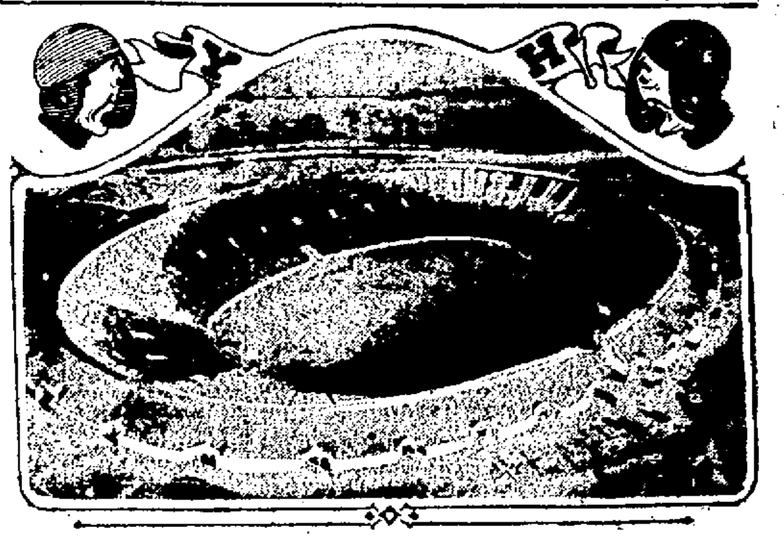

Actual work will begin on the building of the Ohio State stadium early in the spring of the year as soon as the last of the snow leaves the ground.

This is real news to the students and alumni of the University who have been anxious to see a real amphitheater for the Buckeye athletes to cavort in.

The chief feature of the stadium which makes it superior to the other stadia now in existence is the fact that the interior of the Ohio Stadium is to be utilized while the others are but masses of supports. There will be two large rooms 90 by 400 feet which will be used for indoor practice, patriotic demonstrations, pageants, etc.

Two team rooms with showers and lockers will be provided one for the visiting team and one for the home team.

More persons than many thriving cities boast of will congregate in the massive concrete Yale "bowl" at New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20 to witness the annual gridiron contest between the Yale and Harvard elevens. Regardless of the success of these teams against other colleges during the football season, the game is one of the biggest events of the sport because of the intense rivalry between the schools. The officials are planning wooden additions to the top rim of the bowl and along the bottom part to take care of the crowd this season. Under the new arrangement 78,000 persons will see the game. Over 100,000 requests for seats have been received by the athletic officials.

The team expects to leave for the south the latter part of February.

SMOKE HOUSE ELEVEN PASSES BUCK TO TANKS

"Impossible to play Sunday. Would like conference Friday evening at Portsmouth with manager and captain. Write if satisfactory and where to meet you.—William Brooks."

The above answer to the challenge made by the management of the local Smoke House football eleven to the Ironton Tanks was received by Manager August Putzek Tuesday night, and it shows that the Ironton team that did so much press-agenting about the Smoke House team being a "home-brew" outfit and afraid to come to Ironton to play, is not so anxious to play themselves as they appeared at first or they would have accepted the challenge made by the local boys.

The conference that was asked for Friday night will be arranged and it is hoped by the local team that some arrangements will be made for a game to be played in either Ironton or Portsmouth in the near future.

The Ironton Daily Register Tuesday carried the following item:

"Talk is cheap, and if Portsmouth wants a game with the Tanks, all they have to do is to make a noise like a man and they can get it. Talk is cheap, brother, and unless your bunch is willing to play you should be ashamed of yourself for talking. Put up or shut up."

Well, to all appearances, it is the Ironton aggregation that needs to make a noise like a man now and put up or shut up, for the telegram sent to the management of the Tanks certainly sounded as if it was written by a person in full control of his faculties, and now it is up to the Tanks. The local team has "put up." Now they want to know whose turn it is to put up or shut up.

Let's go, Ironton!

Wilson Is Suspended

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17—Boxing Commissioners of Ohio met here today and formed a body known as the Federation of Municipal Boxing Commissions of Ohio.

L. H. Lightcap, Chairman of the Columbus Commission, will head the Ohio organization. Allen Baehr of Cincinnati, was chosen Vice Chairman, Dewitt C. Fisher, Toledo, Secretary and J. Wilmerding Cleveland, Treasurer.

Another meeting will be held here early in January. It is the intention of the Ohio organization to meet twice yearly and to promote interest in the fistic game. All cities will have the opportunity to receive the Commissioner.

To elevate the pugilistic game and keep it on the highest plane is the aim of the Buckeye Commission. Boxers will produce to the best of their ability hereafter or they will seek other grounds to reap harvests, Commissioners said.

As an opening gun the Ohio Commission suspended Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion for one year, beginning today. Wilson failed at the last minute to scrap Bryan Downey at Canton Labor Day.

WANT A RETURN GAME

IRONTON, Nov. 17—Capt. Miller of the Nitro football team and who is a former Pennsylvania star, made an effort after the game here with the Tanks to get them to come to Nitro for a return game. He stated that the people around Nitro thought the team was invincible and they wanted a chance to square themselves with the home folks. The Tanks, however are not sure they can give the Nitro team a game as their schedule is about full for the season.

Baseball Disputes To Be Settled In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—All disputes in professional baseball will be settled in Chicago, Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis said today in reply to queries as to how he planned to retain his position on the bench and still perform his duties as baseball commissioner.

"When baseball matters come up the participants will come to me here in Chicago to plead their cases," said the judge. "I guess my record for the past fifteen years is sufficient assurance that I can handle anything that comes before me. The persons criticizing me on the ground that I can't handle two jobs are not afraid I won't be able to do my work; they are afraid that I will."

NO HANDICAP TO GIPP

SOUTH BEND, IND., Nov. 17—An unusual display of grit that enabled Notre Dame to defeat Indiana last Saturday in the hardest game of the season for Notre Dame was disclosed today when an examination revealed that George Gipp, half back, played through the entire game with a fractured collar bone. Gipp's injury came shortly after the contest began.

Giants Get Rapp

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—The New York National league club today announced the purchase of Joe Rapp, third baseman of the St. Paul American league club. The purchase agreement was not disclosed.

ST. PAUL MINN, Nov. 16—The price paid by the New York Nationals for Joseph "Goldie" Rapp of the St. Paul American Association club was $15,000, it was announced here today. The local club will receive a pitcher and an infielder as part payment. St. Paul purchased Rapp from the Cincinnati club for $1,000 last spring.

Eddie Cicotte, Sox Star, To Escape Punishment

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—Eddie Cicotte, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, whose confession resulted in numerous indictments by the special Cooke county baseball grand jury in connection with the 1919 world series probably will not be punished for his part in the game throwing, according to officials of the state attorney's office. Cicotte will turn state evidence when the men indicted are tried and his only sentence will be banishment from organized baseball, it was said today.

YALE PLAYERS REST

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Still smarting from its defeat by Princeton last week, Yale's football squad rested today at Gedney farm, near White Plains. The players who went to White Plains Saturday night will not return to New Haven until tomorrow, just in time for a limbering up practice for the contest with Harvard. Trainer Johnny Mack said the men came through the Princeton game in good physical condition and he hoped to have the strongest line-up possible on the field against the Crimson.

Fulton To Meet O'Brien

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 17—Fred Fulton, one time "white hope" before Jess Willard became the world's champion heavyweight, will meet Dick O'Brien of Cincinnati at the Jefferson County Armory Monday night, December 13. Arrangements for the match were made known today by E. P. Rucker, who is promoting the fight with a group of local men. The bout will be for 12 rounds.

Ted Cunliffe and Salem Shaw, shooting as the entire membership of the Royals, whaled Walter Wilhelm and Ralph Donaldson, similarly representing the Horrables at the Play House alleys, last evening. While Cunliffe and Shaw were at it they thought they might as well make a real killing and grabbed off three in a row. Dr. Franklin Freestone Spencer, anchor man for the Horrables, shot three great scores, gathering 215, 256 and 289, good for a total of 760. He did this while he had his shins-baking before a big wood fire in "Happy Hollow" whither he had journeyed in the hope he could exceed the rabbit limit, Tuesday. He dozed off for an instant and during that period hit the wood for who tied the cat tails together. Of course if his scores are allowed to be counted, the Horrables will win three in a row, but Secretary Baker is expected to keep the huge total completely outside of his record sheets. Dr. Franklin F. S. is one individual who can do three things at the same time—shoot and bowl—and dream. The amount of bloodshed along the Spencer Trail will never be known because of the snow, but what was shed was of a carmine hue—with two heifers and a brindle cow being treated for gun shot wounds.

Now, after all that prelude—telling about how Cunliffe and Shaw killed the bear and Doc the cow and heifers, it is really cause for a slander suit on the part of William Hazelbeck that his efforts were overlooked. Why, the big, tall, good natured fellow was there for the two last games and while he did nothing wonderful, he wants it known he did his derndest and a little better than the blind. Anyhow, he's happy for his team won three in a row and that's all there is to it. The scores:

OUR PRESENT PORTION

IN his Sunday closing proclamation Mayor Gableman drew attention to the singular freedom of Portsmouth from violent disorder.

That freedom becomes all the more pronounced when the story of crime in other cities is read from day to day. So many of them never before experienced such an era of unchecked lawlessness. Up to date 169 murders have been perpetrated in Chicago, while burglaries and holdups can scarce be counted upon. Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, mentioned only because they are in our own state and not at all because their record is equally dark, vie with Chicago in her ill-starred course.

But as said Portsmouth is the bright exception, enjoying an exceptional peace and quietude from graver outrages.

To what cause this is due no man can say. Most likely though it is because the thug and the thief enjoys practically immunity in the lager fields and so have no inclination to invade the smaller zones. However, exception is not security. It is not improbable that as the criminals are hunted vigorously in the big cities they will flee them in numbers to the smaller and these latter would do well to set themselves on guard as against their likely advent.

WHO GOES THERE?

THE Boston Chamber of Commerce has issued the following thrilling warning that ought to be graven on the consciousness of all:

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.
I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the world.
I am more deadly than bullets and I have wrecked more homes than the deadliest of siege guns.
I steal in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.
I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor; the young and old; the strong and the weak. Widows and orphans know me.
I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.
I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year.
I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.
I am relentless. I am everywhere; in the home, on the streets, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea.
I bring sickness, degradation, death. And yet few seek to avoid me.
I destroy, crush, maim, take all, and give nothing.
I am your worst enemy.
I am CARELESSNESS!

OUR WINNING WAYS

AN impression we cultivated during the war and hugged with a sort of ghoulish glee to our breast, was that Germany hated us worse than she did any of her other numerous enemies.

That was not true as to the German people themselves, though it may have been with the imperial government. Let us suppose, however, that the Germans have come to know us as we really are and so to appreciate us therefor.

Nothing illogical appears in that since our army of occupation has been stationed in the Goblenz area, since the end of hostilities and so well has it conducted itself that the nation is concerned over the belief when Harding goes to the presidential chair one of his first acts will be to recall the troops from Germany. Counting on this eventuality there is popular protest against it, the inhabitants foreseeing that if the Americans are withdrawn they will be replaced by the army of some other nation. If is said the natives would prefer Belgians after us and then British. Of course, they would have Frenchmen last, probably, for several reasons, they realize their armies wronged France most grievously and they know when a French once learns to hate he ever either forgets or forgives.

Store windows are now making it evident that Christmas is just around the calendar corner.

The man who is able to minimize his talk will find the going considerably easier.

Getting near the time when the wise turkey will take to the woods while the going is good.

There are women who spend a lot of their time trying to disprove what the wrinkles are saying.

Many a man who boasts about being broad-minded simply advertises the fact that he is flat-headed.

The Quest Of The Lone Wolf

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 17.—This sounds like a title for a movie, but it is really an accurate description of a job just finished by H. P. Williams, of Custer, South Dakota, who is one of the most experienced of the small standing army of trappers employed by the Biological Survey in its work of exterminating predatory animals.

Williams was directed to spend all of his time in the task of getting one old and cunning wolf, which had been dining on beef and eluding rifle, trap, dogs and poison for years. Ranchmen had despaired of ever catching this old prairie pirate, but word has just been received at the Biological Survey that Williams has been successful in his long hunt. The hide of the Dakota freebooter will probably be in Washington before long.

If you think that the pursuit of a single wolf is an inadequate occupation for a government employee, you should be informed that this wolf is estimated to have destroyed $25,000 worth of beef and mutton during his lifetime, and that he was piling up the score at the rate of more than a thousand dollars a year.

This wolf had developed a cunning which compares favorably with the mental operations of many humans. For example, when he killed a cow, it was his custom to travel a few miles, and then come back, paralleling his first track at a distance of a few rods. He then returned to the edge of the thick timber, and waited. When hounds were put on his track, he watched them go by, and retired in safety in one direction while they were going in the other.

A Hard Job

To find and kill a single wolf in a large and broken wilderness might seem a hopeless task, but the government hunters have gotten their methods of work down pretty fine. They know that a wolf, like a man, is a creature of habit. However widely he may range, he always returns to the same places eventually.

Furthermore, wolves are also like men and like most other creatures, in that they cannot do wholly without others of their kind. Wolves have signboards, as have dogs, where passers-by register their presence for the information of the next comer. By locating these canine registers, the wolf hunter can map the range of a wolf or that of a band of wolves with tolerable accuracy. He usually finds that a wolf travels in a great circle, sometimes a hundred and fifty miles in circumference. He never kills twice in succession in the same vicinity, but the hunter may nevertheless guess about where the next kill will be.

Wolves soon learn how to detect poison meat, and express their scorn of such crude methods by scratching dirt over the poisoned bait. Poison will kill out the young and foolish animals in a region when it is first used there, but the survivors are wise and cannot be taken that way. Traps are a more reliable method, but the wolves soon get wise to these, too. The utmost precautions must be used to hide the scent of iron. The hunter stands on a calf hide while setting the trap, he smokes the trap itself and handles it with blood-soaked gloves. Even so, the wolf who is old and wise often walks around the trap as carefully as though it were marked with a danger sign. Hunting with hounds and lying in wait with a rifle are the other chief methods.

A Survivor of Early Days

The lobo or gray wolf is one of the few figures of the old West that still survives. These wolves in the early days hung on the flanks of the buffalo herds in great numbers, killing off the old bulls, the strays and calves. They were so common that buffalo hunters seldom wasted any of their precious ammunition on them. But when the buffalo herds were gone and the cattle herds, working slowly north from old Mexico, began to cover the great plains, the lobo became the greatest pest of the business. Excepting his small cousin, the coyote, he has been the hardest of all the predatory beasts to destroy. Time was when the lordly grizzly used to come far down on the plains, and kill the largest bulls with a blow of his paw. The grizzly could fight, but he could neither hide nor run very well. Before the repeating rifle he retired in dwindling numbers to the farthest recesses of the mountain canyons. He still kills a few sheep, but scarcely anywhere is he a factor in the cattle business.

But the wolves, after just about 50 years of persecution, are still very much a factor. They are greatly reduced in numbers, but nearly every section of open range country still has its little band of wolves. And their appetite for beef is enormous. It costs $1,200 a year or more, to support every one of them. The Biological Survey has therefore decreed unmerciful war against them, and it is probable that they are doomed. In some sections, as in that where Williams hunted, only a single wolf is left. In such cases the wolf has been known to steal a march on civilization by mating with a dog and raising a litter of wolf-dogs that are just as bad as wolves, and sometimes worse.

The Wise Coyote

The lite coyote, also a true wolf, has survived the advance of civilization much better than the lobo. He is still numerous all over the west, and is reported to be extending his range eastward. The coyote does great damage to sheep, taking regularly 10 percent of the lamb crop in many sections of the southwest, but he is not a menace to cattle. Furthermore, he does not depend upon stock for a living to the extent that the wolf does. If the sheep men make it too hot for him, he can retire into a desert country, where you would think a buzzard would starve, and there live on mice, lizards and an occasional jack rabbit. It is possible to reduce his numbers in sections where he is a pest, but he is in no danger whatever of being exterminated.

The one other predatory creature which engages the government hunters is the mountain lion, puma, or panther, as it is variously called. This creature is native to almost every part of the United States, but it has been exterminated in much of the east, leaving a trail of legend and myth behind it. There is no creature about which you can hear more weird and thrilling stories. Its cry is said to be the most hair-raising sound in the world, resembling the scream of a terrified woman. It is said to trail men for days and nights, seeking a chance to pounce upon them. But there are remarkably few records of attacks on men by mountain lions, and the animal kills few cattle because it lives only in mountain country. In some sections of mountain summer range it is very destructive to cattle and to horses, young colts being its favorite food. Few lions are killed, and they are still abundant in the Rocky Mountains.

This government campaign against predatory animals may be regarded as a last act in the drama of subjugating the wild west. When the wolves and lions are gone the western rangeland will be as tame as an Iowa hog pasture, and there will be no more need of men who can shoot a rifle and set a trap.

Everything Due to Effort.

In all human affairs there are efforts, and there are results, and the strength of the effort is the measure of the result. Chance is not, "Gifts," powers; material, intellectual, and spiritual possessions are the fruits of effort; they are thoughts completed, objects accomplished, visions realized.—James Allen.

Q. What is the origin of the term pin money? A. A.

A. In English law, a sum of money paid periodically by a husband to his wife for clothes and other personal expenses is designated as pin money. While the origin of the term is obscured, some writers assert that it took its name from an ancient tax levied in England for the purpose of supplying the Queen with pins.

Q. How can air be weighed? G. T.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the weight of air can be determined by taking a glass bulb fitted with a stopcock, exhausting the air from the bulb, weighing the bulb and then admitting air and weighing again. The difference in weight equals the weight of air contained in the bulb.

Q. What college has the largest summer school? S. L.

A. The Bureau of Education says that Columbia University leads at present, with an enrollment for the summer of 1920 of 9,700 students. The University of Chicago is second with 5,100 students.

Q. How long does it take to finish a battleship after it is launched? E. B. F.

A. The Navy Department says that time differs somewhat, but the "California" which was launched November 19, 1919, is scheduled to be put in commission in January, 1921, and the "Maryland" launched March 20, 1920, will probably be ready in July, 1921.

Q. When did Coxey's Army enter Washington and how many men were in it? J. W.

A. This industrial army entered Washington on the 29th of April, 1895, numbering 326 men.

Q. Is Montenegro now a separate country? R. J. S.

A. Montenegro is now a part of Jugo-Slavia.

Q. Have the Irish Members of Parliament the right to vote in the House of Commons? R. G.

A. Since the Act of Union of 1800 Ireland has been represented in the British Parliament by 28 temporal peers, and 103 members in the House of Commons. These members have the same privilege of voting upon all measures as have the other Members of Parliament.

Q. Is it true that a snake does not drink water? B. W. K.

A. The Bureau of Biological Survey says that snakes do drink water.

Q. Who was known as "The Pope of Geneva?"

A. This was a name sometimes given to John Calvin.

Q. Who wrote "Ten Nights in a Bar Room?" E. S.

A. Those verses are taken from Timothy S. Arthur's "Drunkard's Rebellion."

Q. At what age should squabs be marketed? M. R. E.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that squabs should be sold when from 3 1-2 to 4 1-2 weeks of age. Squabs are in good market condition when full feathered under the wings, about the time they begin to leave the nest. If not marketed promptly, they soon lose their baby fat and the flesh begins to get hard.

Q. In the game of "Five Hundred" do the winners at the head table change partners? R. R.

A. According to Hoyle, the winning partners progress at the various tables and any preferred style of progression may be used. At present, it seems usual for the winners to progress from the head to the foot table and change partners, just as they do at the other tables, thereby avoiding confusion.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, November 17.—A few blocks north of Brooklyn Bridge on Lafayette street, is a huge, sinister pile of stone hemmed in by a wall of rock 20 feet high. Pedestrians catching the faint glimpse of its outline at night can scarcely suppress a shudder. There is something about its brooding presence that grips the emotions—depresses.

It is the Tombs prison. The Tombs! A name bestowed by a Park Row reporter with an unsavory sense of word values. No building I have ever seen is so gloomy looking or gives the impression of being the grave of living dead men.

Faint lozenges of light come from the little barred windows that mark each tier. The entrance is an archway and inspection reveals two massive black iron doors that slide open to admit the morning and evening arrival of the Black Marias filled with tight-lipped men, abject in their hopelessness and generally cursing with each breath.

Two men have scaled the outside walls and dropped to the street only to find their limbs broken from the drop. No armed sentinels pace back and forth on the top of the wall. It is not necessary. From across the street where I stood watching the forbidding mausoleum of hopes the grim silence was broken.

It sounded more like the gruff roar of some wounded beast. A soft scurrying of footsteps, the clank of an iron door and silence again. Leading from the Tombs to the Criminal Courts building across the street is the Bridge of Sighs. Handcuffed prisoners walk across it to hear their fate.

Some of the world's most notorious prisoners have trod its concrete flooring. Nan Patterson, Harry Thaw, Roland Molineaux and a host of others whose crimes loom large in the pages of criminal history. All during the day the Tombs is rocked by the roar of a thousand street noises—giant trucks, hooves against cobble-stones, honking motors, shrieking rigs. But at night Lafayette street simmers down to the quiet of a country church yard and in the Tombs men either sleep or fight valiant battles with their souls.

My night wanderings took me from the gloom of Lafayette street to beautiful Riverside Drive. At night it is at its best. Bathed in soft moonlight the asphalt driveway unwinds like ribbon. On either side are magnificent elms—as stately as Druids, below the shimmering Hudson flickering from rays of electric light and across the ever majestic Palisades half hidden in a light fog. Then up over the hill by Grant's Tomb flashed two piercing lights. They came on with a rush. There was a fallet snatch of a song and high pitched laughter. Out of a side street came a mighty popping-purpose. The chase was on for several blocks. Then all drew up at a curb. The motorcycle cop handed them their summons and each drove off—and one party very slowly.

Frank Tinney is leaving off the burnt cork and playing in white face. Is the black face comedian to disappear? Eddie Cantor is appearing in white face at the Winter Garden. There are rumors that when Al Jolson next comes to Broadway he will be in white face. And too the men who make songs a success are choosing different types of song. Cantor's song hit is "Feather Your Nest"—not a comedy number—and Al Jolson's song hit this season is "Grieving For You", a sentimental number. It is reported that Bert Williams, who is a very light mulatto, is shortly to appear in a straight comedy without make-up.

ELIHU ROOT

Elihu Root, conceded to be one of the most eminent of living statesmen and lawyers and a thorough student of international politics, is now considered President-elect Harding's probable choice for secretary of state. Root has just recently returned from Europe, where he went to aid in the formation of a world court.

ELIHU ROOT

Root's great-grandfather is said to have fought at Concord Bridge, with the 300 Americans who drove 800 "Red Coats" back and chased them to Boston.

Oren Root, Elihu's father, was graduated from Hamilton college in 1836. He was a professor of mathematics for thirty-two years in that institution. Scholars called him "Cube Root" behind his back.

Elihu Root was born in Clinton, N. Y., February 15, 1845. He obtained his A. B. degree at Hamilton college and was awarded degrees by Yale, Columbia, New York U., Buenos Aires and many other colleges and universities.

His first venture in politics was as U. S. district attorney in the southern district of New York in 1883. He is not now in cabinet duties as President McKinley named Root secretary of war August 1, 1899. Roosevelt so valued Root's services enough to name him secretary of the state. In 1909 Root was elected U. S. senator from New York. He served as U. S. counsel in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration in 1910, is a member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and is affiliated with many well organized associations for the promotion of peace and international relations. During the war he led a special diplomatic mission to Russia. He is famous also as a lecturer on international and national laws.

Walls!

They rise into the skies by day and night—
White walls of Persia and of far Cathay
And Chinese walls of old tradition's might:
The sacred walls that fell—a startling sight!
When earth-worn warriors on their weary way,
Marched round the town and, striving to obey,
Cried seven times the magic words of light!

These are the walls clear-seen in every land
But greater far those walls invisible
That close the heart by barriers cold and chill;
Walls raised by minds that cannot understand,
That build of prejudice, of fear and doubt,
Those deadly walls that shut all freedom out!

The Passion For Learning

"You mustn't go near the open windows, dear," said a mother during house cleaning time to her three-year-old daughter. "If you should fall out on the ground you would surely break your neck."

Betty followed her mother upstairs and played happily with her doll for an hour. Suddenly her mother missed her from the bed, and, noticing that the door was closed, thought she was hiding somewhere in the room. After a playful search of a minute or two, she heard a patter of small feet in the hall, and hastened to open the door.

"It didn't break my neck, mother," remarked the child as she resumed her play with the doll.

SIXTEEN MINERS TRAPPED IN A BURNING KENTUCKY MINE

DESPERATE EFFORTS TO SAVE THEM

(BULLETIN)

EARLINGTON, KY. Nov. 17—Ten miners were rescued today from the burning Arnold coal mine near here. Bodies of five others were recovered. One other person trapped in the mine was still missing.

EARLINGTON, KY., Nov. 7—Mine rescue teams were working desperately at an early hour this morning in an attempt to save the lives of the sixteen miners trapped in the burning Arnold coal mine near here. The men were trapped three miles back in the mine when fire broke out yesterday afternoon and cut off their escape from the entrance.

After all other attempts at rescue had failed, a tunnel was dug around the burning entry and a start for the miners was made. The rescue party after forcing into the mine for a short distance however, were forced to come out because of the denseness of the smoke and gas. Later this morning another rescue party was organized and armed with gas masks, proposes to go to the end of the mine in an attempt to find the men who are trapped there. Little hope of the miners being found alive should the expedition prove successful is shown. Officials of the mine operating company and rescuers express the opinion that the men probably have already been suffocated.

Those entombed in the mine are three white men and thirteen negroes. One other negro was working close to the entrance and discovered the fire soon enough to make his escape. He spread the alarm and mine rescue teams from nearby coal mining cities were called on for assistance. The rescue teams worked tirelessly all night in the meager hope that the men would still be alive when reached.

Huddled together in a little group near the blazing entrance of the mine this morning were the wives and families of the entrapped men. They had kept a sorrowful and tireless vigil throughout the night in the faint hope that their loved ones would be spared them.

The whites and blacks are drawn together in the disaster affecting them both. Grief stricken and weeping they stand, watching the smoke pour from the burning mine, forming an incentive urging the rescuers to greater efforts.

Ankle Deep Slush In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 17—The season's first heavy snowstorm struck the city last night, changed to rain later in the night and back to snow this morning, putting the city in ankle-deep slush and slowed up street car, interurban and steam traffic generally.

There was danger of serious delays in traffic should the temperature suddenly take a drop. Weather bureau officials said early today that it was likely to become colder and predicted the snow would continue to fall during the day.

Reports from several points in northern Ohio show the heavy snowfall was general in this section. Warren reporting a fall of seven inches.

Greeks Tired Of Politics, Says Defeated Premier

ATHENS, Nov. 10—Reasons for his defeat are said by former Premier Venizelos to be the weariness of the people with politics, their desire for a rest and for the return of soldiers from the front, and emphasis placed by opponents on the charge that he was putting Greece into the hands of foreign nations. M. Venizelos declares this charge aroused fears of protracted wars in connection with his greater Greece policy, and he says popular jealousy played a part in his reverse at the polls last Sunday.

To these he declares, may be added various grievances against the internal administration and the feeling that he, himself, was the victim of his own ideas of aggrandizement. M. Venizelos when seen tonight, was taking his defeat courageously and calmly. Speaking of himself he said:

"I am tired and want a rest. Now I will have time to enjoy reading political history."

Open Probe On The Irish Conditions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Hearings on conditions in Ireland with prominent officials of that country among those to appear, were to open here today before a commission from the committee of 109 investigating conditions in Ireland. Witnesses in sufficient number to occupy the commission's time for three days, already have been granted permission to testify, according to William MacDonald, secretary, and the British embassy has been requested to be represented by counsel or any official spokesman. Similar action was taken with respect to Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Irish republic." The commission has been advised that numerous witnesses will make the trip from Ireland to tell of conditions. Some already had sailed. Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of the late lord mayor of Cork, will sail November 21. Most of the others, however, were expected to start the ocean voyage at an earlier date.

The commission has stated that it hoped only to "establish the facts in the case of Ireland" and to lay these facts before the world. It will attempt to develop the contentions of both sides to the controversy and grant a hearing to all who are familiar with conditions in Ireland, or who lately have made personal studies of the situation, it was announced.

Members of the commission, elected as a "high court" by the committee of 100, include Raymond Robins; Chicago; Joseph W. Folk, St. Louis; Frederick C. Howe, Washington; Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh; Jane Addams, Chicago; James H. Maurer, president Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17 — The fourth and thirty second degrees will be conferred upon more than 750 Ohio Free and Accepted Masons at the semi-annual reunion of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of the Valley of Columbus, opening here this morning and continuing through Friday.

Heavy Snow Delays Trip

DAYTON, O. Nov. 17—The heavy snow which fell in Dayton last night, today prevented the departure by plane of Lieutenants O. G. McFey, John Macready, Leigh Wade and Major Carlyle Wash, McCook Field aviators, for Minneola, L. I., where they will fly Thanksgiving Day in the Pulitzer air race. The flyers have postponed their departure until Wednesday.

Street car and interurban traffic was partially paralyzed by the snow fall.

GREEK ARMY MAY CREATE A REPUBLIC

ATHENS, Nov. 16—There are rumors that it is possible the Greek army, which is supposed to be loyal to former Premier Venizelos may create the republic of Smyrna, in Asia Minor.

The present regency of Admiral Coundouriotis has been recognized by the opposition. It is probable the cabinet selected by the leaders of the dominant party in Greece will hold office temporarily until a plebiscite is held at which the people will vote upon the return of former king Constantine. It is also believed that opposition will make efforts to determine the views of the world relative to the results of the election.

There was a panic on the bourse when it became certain that the Venizelest government had been defeated, the United States exchange doubling in value. The city is quiet and the parliament house is occupied by troops.

Papers Take Advertising Contract Fight To The Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16—Application of the Cleveland News for a revision of the suit filed by it against the Standard Amusement company, seeking to compel the latter to pay full advertising rates on a year's contract, was granted by the supreme court today.

The amusement company had a contract with the News at a special rate, if a specified number of inches were used each week.

The News alleged violation of the contract.

The amusement company, according to the petition, refused to furnish further advertising, at which the News sought to collect for advertising carried to the date of abrogation at the regular advertising rate.

The News won in municipal court, but was reversed in the court of appeals. The suit now will be heard in the supreme court.

Briefs were filed by five other Ohio newspapers in the application to the supreme court, "as friends of the court." The newspapers were the Columbus Dispatch, Ohio State Journal, Cincinnati Commercial Tribune and Dayton Herald and Dayton Journal. The Dispatch brief declared:

"Newspapers are almost entirely dependent upon advertising to finance publication. Few newspapers obtain from circulation and sales enough to pay the costs of publication. To assure a steady income and sufficient funds to publish daily, and in order to stabilize and determine in advance the amount of advertising to appear in each edition, publishers enter into contracts in advance of publication.

"When advertisers breach their contracts, it is a well established custom to charge the reasonable rate for the period which the advertising has been furnished and published."

To abrogate this custom, the brief asserted, is to "open the doors to wholesale breaches of contract by unscrupulous advertisers and to great financial harm to newspapers."

Col. Leckie Dies From Miner's Asthma

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 17—Col. William Leckie, 65 years old, principal owner of the Leckie Coal Company, one of the largest operations in the West Virginia fields, died here today.

Col. Leckie's death was due almost directly to miner's asthma, the result of coal dust on the lungs. He started life as a miner and for years used a pick in various mines in the West Virginia district. It was during his early struggles that he contracted miner's asthma from which he has suffered ever since.

The "Early Risers" Walk As Snow Blocks Traffic

Fall Of "The Beautiful" Unusually Early and General Throughout Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17—Ohio awoke this morning to struggle through the first real snow storm of the winter, a fall of several inches being reported generally throughout the state. The snow, which began falling yesterday, continued heavily throughout the night and today steam and interurban traffic was seriously delayed while street cars in many cities were held up, forcing early morning workers to walk. As much as six and a half inches of snow has fallen at several points throughout the state. Usually heavy snow was reported from Dayton, Youngstown, Hamilton and Cleveland.

Lemon Extract Cause Of Deaths Of Actresses

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—Confessions from the two men held in connection with the deaths of two actresses, Marie Ramsey and Lillian Thompson, found in Grant Park Sunday morning, have cleared up nearly all the details, police said today, and have established that the girls died from alcohol and exposure and without violence.

Police still are searching for two other men who are said to have been with the girls early Saturday evening. According to the confessions given out by the police, the two men being detained met the girls after the latter had secured the liquor which played the chief part in causing their death.

These two men, their confessions declare, left the girls at their own request in Grant Park, and it is believed by the police that the girls wandered there until overcome by exposure.

Investigation by the police disclosed, it was said, that the girls had partaken of "lemon extract" purchased near their home Saturday night, besides the other liquor which chemical examination disclosed in their stomach. No traces of poison were found the police said.

Batum In Hands Of Bolsheviki

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16—Reports that Batum have been captured by the Russian Bolsheviki have been received here but thus far they have not been confirmed. Supplies collected in the city were removed some time ago and a Georgian division was sent to the south for the purpose of checking an advance by Turkish Nationalists.

The situation existing in the Caucasus region cannot be described as good, and trains running between Tiflis and Batum are badly overcrowded. News from Armenia is badly confused. It would appear that neither the Bolshevik element nor the active Armenian government is in control of the situation.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Assurances of leading banking interests that the domestic financial situation is fundamentally sound and another brisk advance in British exchange stimulated a moderate demand for stocks at the opening of today's session. Investment rails scored the most substantial gains, Northern Pacific rising 1¾ points and Southern Pacific a large fraction. Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, General electric, Crucible steel and American sugar comprised the other firm to strong issues. Rubber and copper shares were again inclined however, to reflect adverse conditions in their respective industries.

POLICE SEARCH FOR WOULD-BE TRAIN BANDITS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 17—Police are searching today for armed men who last night attempted to hold up and rob Union Pacific passenger train number 101 eastbound, at Sandoz, six miles east of Denver. Eighteen shots were fired by the bandits and members of the train crew, who slave the Carlisle train robbery in Wyoming, have been armed.

One of the bandits is believed to have been wounded. They escaped in an automobile, which was waiting near the siding.

Three of the bandit party, believed to have numbered six men, flagged the train as it pulled to a stop, they approached the baggage car. When the bandits opened fire the train crew returned it with shotguns.

In the meantime Rock Island train number six, eastbound on the same tracks, came up behind. The Rock Island train's rear coaches were derailed as it passed the Sandoz switch. Railroad officials believe the switch was pulled while the train was passing over it.

A Run Of Luck

Friday afternoon P. H. S. will meet the Ashland High School eleven on Millbrook diamond, (that is if the snow is not several feet deep at that time.)

Tuesday afternoon the team held a light workout in the high school gym, signal practice being the order of the afternoon. While this weather continues, preventing outside workouts the team will be put through practice in the gym with additional blackboard practice in the evenings.

The game will be called at 2:30 instead of 2 o'clock. Football fans are requested to note the change in the day of the game, it being moved up one day from Saturday to Friday.

When Spring Rolls Around Work Will Begin On Stadium

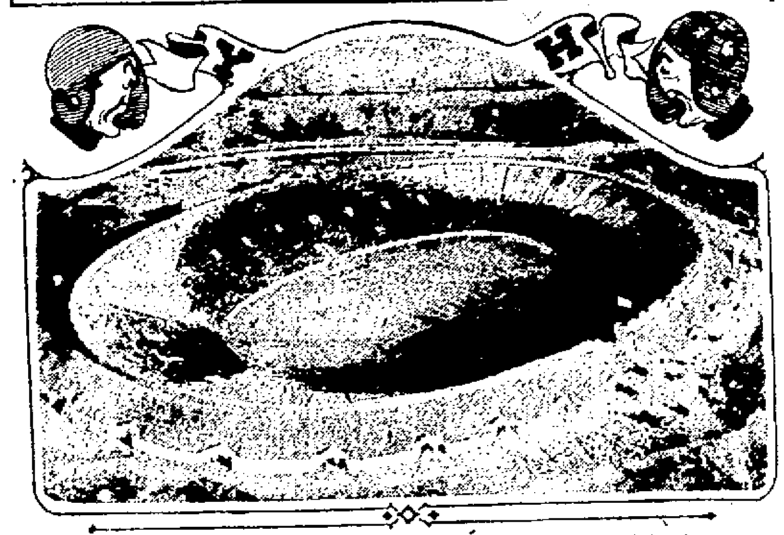

Actual work will begin on the building of the Ohio State stadium early in the spring of the year as soon as the last of the snow leaves the ground.

This is real news to the students and alumni of the University who have been anxious to see a real amphitheater for the Buckeye athletes to cavort in.

The chief feature of the stadium which makes it superior to the other stadia now in existence is the fact that the interior of the Ohio Stadium is to be utilized while the others are but masses of supports. There will be two large rooms 80 by 100 feet which will be used for indoor practice, patriotic demonstrations, pageants, etc.

Two team rooms with showers and lockers will be provided one for the visiting team and one for the home team.

GREAT YALE BOWL IS ENLARGED FOR HARVARD-YALE BATTLE

An airplane view of the Yale bowl at New Haven. Note the piles of lumber around the edge, with which the added seats are to be built.

More persons than many thriving cities boast of will congregate in the massive concrete Yale "bowl" at New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20 to witness the annual gridiron contest between the Yale and Harvard elevens. Regardless of the success of these teams against other colleges during the football season, the game is one of the biggest events of the sport because of the intense rivalry between the schools. The officials are planning wooden additions to the top rim of the bowl and along the bottom part to take care of the crowd this season. Under the new arrangement 73,000 persons will see the game. Over 100,000 requests for seats have been received by the athletic officials.

WANT A RETURN GAME

IRONTON, Nov. 17—Capt. Miller of the Nitro football team and who is a former Pennsylvania star, made an effort after the game here with the Tanks to get them to come to Nitro for a return game. He stated that the people around Nitro thought the team was invincible and they wanted a chance to square themselves with the home folks. The Tanks, however are not sure they can give the Nitro team a game as their schedule is about full for the season.

SMOKE HOUSE ELEVEN PASSES BUCK TO TANKS

"Impossible to play Sunday. Would like conference Friday evening at Portsmouth with manager and captain. Write if satisfactory and where to meet you.—William Brooks."

The above answer to the challenge made by the management of the local Smoke House football eleven to the Ironton Tanks was received by Manager August Putzek Tuesday night, and it shows that the Ironton team that did so much press-agenting about the Smoke House team being a "home-brew" outfit and afraid to come to Ironton to play, is not so anxious to play themselves as they appeared at first or they would have accepted the challenge made by the local boys.

The conference that was asked for Friday night will be arranged and it is hoped by the local team that some arrangements will be made for a game to be played in either Ironton or Portsmouth in the near future.

The Ironton Daily Register Tuesday carried the following item:

"Talk is cheap, and if Portsmouth wants a game with the Tanks, all they have to do is to make a noise like a man and they can get it. Talk is cheap, brother, and unless your bunch is willing to play you should be ashamed of yourself for talking. Put up or shut up."

Well, to all appearances, it is the Ironton aggregation that needs to make a noise like a man now and put up or shut up, for the telegram certainly sounded as if it was written by a person in full control of his faculties, and now it is up to the Tanks. The local team has "put up." Now they want to know whose turn it is to put up or shut up.

Let's go, Ironton!

Wilson Is Suspended

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17—Boxing Commissioners of Ohio met here today and formed a body known as the Federation of Municipal Boxing Commissions of Ohio.

L. H. Lightcap, Chairman of the Columbus Commission, will head the Ohio organization. Allen Bachr of Cincinnati, was chosen Vice Chairman. Dewitt C. Fisher, Toledo, Secretary and J. Wilmerding Cleveland, Treasurer.

Another meeting will be held here early in January. It is the intention of the Ohio organization to meet twice yearly and to promote interest in the fistic game. All cities will have the opportunity to receive the Commissioners.

To elevate the puglistic game and keep it on the highest plaine is the aim of the Buckeye Commission. Boxers will produce to the best of their ability hereafter or they will seek other grounds to reap harvests, Commissioners said.

As an opening gun the Ohio Commission suspended Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion for one year, beginning today. Wilson failed at the last minute to scrap Bryan Downey at Canton Labor Day.

NO HANDICAP TO GIPP

SOUTH BEND, IND., Nov. 17—An unusual display of grit that enabled Notre Dame to defeat Indiana last Saturday in the hardest game of the season for Notre Dame was disclosed today when an examination revealed that George Gipp, half back, played through the entire game with a fractured collar bone. Gipp's injury came shortly after the contest began.

Baseball Disputes To Be Settled In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—All disputes in professional baseball will be settled in Chicago, Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis said today in reply to queries as to how he planned to retain his position on the bench and still perform his duties as baseball commissioner.

"When baseball matters come up the participants will come to me here in Chicago to plead their cases," said the judge. "I guess my record for the past fifteen years is sufficient assurance that I can handle anything that comes before me. The persons criticizing me on the ground that I can't handle two jobs are not afraid I won't be able to do my work; they are afraid that I will."

YALE PLAYERS REST

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Still smarting from its defeat by Princeton last week, Yale's football squad rested today at Gedney farm, near White Plains. The players who went to White Plains Saturday night will not return to New Haven until tomorrow, just in time for a limbering up practice for the contest with Harvard. Trainer Johnny Mack said the men came through the Princeton game in good physical condition and he hoped to have the strongest line-up possible on the field against the Crimson.

Eddie Cicotte, Sox Star, To Escape Punishment

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—Eddie Cicotte, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, whose confession resulted in numerous indictments by the special Cooke county baseball grand jury in connection with the 1919 world series probably will not be punished for his part in the game throwing, according to officials of the state attorney's office. Cicotte will turn state evidence when the men indicted are tried and his only sentence will be banishment from organized baseball. It was said today.

Fulton To Meet O'Brien

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 17—Fred Fulton, one time "white hope" before Jess Willard became the world's champion heavyweight, will meet Dick O'Brien of Cincinnati at the Jefferson County Armory Monday night, December 13. Arrangements for the match were made known today by E. P. Rucker, who is promoting the fight with a group of local men. The bout will be for 12 rounds.

Giants Get Rapp

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—The New York National league club today announced the purchase of Joe Rapp third baseman of the St. Paul American league club. The purchase agreement was not disclosed.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Nov. 16—The price paid by the New York Nationals for Joseph "Goldie" Rapp of the St. Paul American Association club was $15,000, it was announced here today. The local club will receive a pitcher and an infielder as part payment. St. Paul purchased Rapp from the Cincinnati club for $1,000 last spring.

Ted Cunliffe and Salem Shaw, shooting as the entire membership of the Royals whaled Walter Wilhelm and Ralph Donaldson, similarly representing the Horrables at the Play House alleys, last evening. While Cunliffe and Shaw were at it they thought they might as well make a real killing and grabbed off three in a row. Dr. Franklin Firestone Spencer, anchor man for the Horrables, shot three great scores, gathering 215, 256 and 289, good for a total of 760. He did this while he had his shins baking before a big wood fire in "Happy Hollow" whither he had journeyed in the hope he could exceed the rabbit limit, Tuesday. He dozed off for an instant and during that period hit the wood for who tied the cat tails together. Of course if his scores are allowed to be counted, the Horrables will win three in a row, but Secretary Baker is expected to keep the huge total completely outside of his record sheets. Dr. Franklin F. S. is one individual who can do three things at the same time—shoot and bowl—and dream. The amount of bloodshed along the Spencer Trail will never be known because of the snow but what was shed was of a carmine hue—with two heifers and a brindle cow being treated for gun shot wounds.

Now, after all that pre-decision telling about how Cunliffe and Shaw killed the bear and Doc the cow and heifers, it is really cause for a slander suit on the part of William Hazelbeck that his efforts were overlooked. Why, the big, tall, good-natured fellow was there for the two last games and while he did nothing wonderful, he wants it known he did his derndest and a little better than the blind. Anyhow, he's happy for his team won three in a row and that's all there is to it. The scores:

OUR PRESENT PORTION

In his Sunday closing proclamation Mayor Gableman drew attention to the singular freedom of Portsmouth from violent disorder.

That freedom becomes all the more pronounced when the story of crime in other cities is read from day to day. So many of them never before experienced such an era of unchecked lawlessness. Up to date 169 murders have been perpetrated in Chicago, while burglaries and holdups can scarce be counted upon. Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, mentioned only because they are in our own state and not at all because their record is equally dark, vie with Chicago in her ill-starred course.

But as said Portsmouth is the bright exception, enjoying an exceptional peace and quietude from graver outrages.

To what cause this is due no man can say. Most likely though it is because the thug and the thief enjoys practically immunity in the lager fields and so have no inclination to invade the smaller ones. However, exception is not security. It is not improbable that as the criminals are hunted vigorously in the big cities they will flee them in numbers to the smaller and these latter would do well to set themselves on guard as against their likely advent.

WHO GOES THERE?

The Boston Chamber of Commerce has issued the following thrilling warning that ought to be graven on the consciousness of all:

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.
I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the world.
I am more deadly than bullets and I have wrecked more homes than the deadliest of siege guns.
I steal in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.
I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor; the young and old; the strong and the weak. Widows and orphans know me.
I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.
I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year.
I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.
I am relentless. I am everywhere; in the home, on the streets, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea.
I bring sickness, degradation, death. And yet few seek to avoid me.
I destroy, crush, maim, take all, and give nothing.
I am your worst enemy.
I am CARELESSNESS!

OUR WINNING WAYS

An impression we cultivated during the war and hugged with a sort of ghoulish glee to our breast, was that Germany hated us worse than she did any of her other numerous enemies.

That was not true as to the German people themeslves, though it may have been with the impeiral government. Let us suppose, however, that the Germans have come to know us as we really are and so to appreciate us therefor.

Nothing illogical appears in that since our army of occupation has been stationed in the Coblenz area, since the end of hostilities and so well has it conducted itself that the nation is concerned over the belief when Harding goes to the presidential chair one of his first acts will be to recall the troops from Germany. Counting on this eventuality there is popular protest against it, the inhabitants foreseeing that if the Americans are withdrawn they will be replaced by the army of some other nation. It is said the natives would prefer Belgians after us and then British. Of course, they would have Frenchmen last, probably, for several reasons, they realize their armies wronged France most grievously and they know when a French once learns to hate he ever either forgets or forgives.

Store windows are now making it evident that Christmas is just around the calendar corner.

The man who is able to minimize his talk will find the going considerably easier.

Getting near the time when the wise turkey will take to the woods while the going is good.

There are women who spend a lot of their time trying to disprove what the wrinkles are saying.

Many a man who boasts about being broad-minded simply advertises the fact that he is flat-headed.

The Quest Of The Lone Wolf

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 17.- This sounds like a title for a movie, but it is really an accurate description of a job just finished by H. P. Williams, of Custer, South Dakota, who is one of the most experienced of the small standing army of trappers employed by the Biological Survey in its work of exterminating predatory animals.

Williams was directed to spend all of his time in the task of getting one old and cunning wolf, which had been dining on beef and eluding rifle, trap, dogs and poison for years. Ranchmen had despaired of ever catching this old prairie pirate, but word has just been received at the Biological Survey that Williams has been successful in his long hunt. The hide of the Dakota freebooter will probably be in Washington before long.

If you think that the pursuit of a single wolf is an inadequate occupation for a government employee, you should be informed that this wolf is estimated to have destroyed $25,000 worth of beef and mutton during his lifetime, and that he was piling up the score at the rate of more than a thousand dollars a year.

This wolf had developed a cunning which compares favorably with the mental operations of many humans. For example, when he killed a cow it was his custom to travel a few miles, and then come back, paralleling his first track at a distance of a few rods. He then returned to the edge of the thick timber, and waited. When hounds were put on his track, he watched them go by, and retired in safety in one direction while they were going in the other.

A Hard Job

To find and kill a single wolf in a large and broken wilderness might seem a hopeless task, but the government hunters have gotten their methods of work down pretty fine. They know that a wolf, like a man, is a creature of habit. However widely he may range, he always returns to the same places eventually.

Furthermore, wolves are also like men and like most other creatures, in that they cannot do wholly without others of their kind. Wolves have signboards as have dogs, where passers-by register their presence for the information of the next comer. By locating these canine registers, the wolf hunter can map the range of a wolf or that of a band of wolves with tolerable accuracy. He usually finds that a wolf travels in a great circle, sometimes a hundred and fifty miles in circumference. He never kills twice in succession in the same vicinity, but the hunter may nevertheless guess about where the next kill will be.

Wolves soon learn how to detect poison meat, and express their scorn of such crude methods by scratching dirt over the poisoned bait. Poison will kill out the young and foolish animals in a region when it is first used there, but the survivors are wise and cannot be taken that way. Traps are a more reliable method, but the wolves soon get wise to these, too. The utmost precautions must be used to hide the scent of iron. The hunter stands on a calf hide while setting the trap, he smokes the trap itself and handles it with blood-soaked gloves. Even so, the wolf who is old and wise often walks around the trap as carefully as though it were marked with a danger sign. Hunting with hounds and lying in wait with a rifle are the other chief methods.

A Survivor of Early Days

The lobo or gray wolf is one of the few figures of the old West that still survives. These wolves in the early days hung on the flanks of the buffalo herds in great numbers, killing off the old bulls, the strays and calves. They were so common that buffalo hunters seldom wasted any of their precious ammunition on them. But when the buffalo herds were gone and the cattle herds, working slowly north from old Mexico began to cover the great plains, the lobo became the greatest pest of the business. Excepting his small cousin, the coyote he has been the hardest of all the predatory beasts to destroy. Time was when the lordly grizzly used to come far down on the plains, and kill the largest bulls with a blow of his paw. The grizzly could fight, but he could neither hide nor run very well. Before the repeating rifle he retired in dwindling numbers to the farthest recesses of the mountain canyons. He still kills a few sheep, but scarcely anywhere is he a factor in the cattle business.

But the wolves, after just about 50 years of persecution, are still very much a factor. They are greatly reduced in numbers, but nearly every section of open range country still has its little band of wolves. And their appetite for beef is enormous. It costs $1,200 a year or more, to support every one of them. The Biological Survey has therefore decreed unmerciful war against them, and it is probable that they are doomed. In some sections, as in that where Williams hunted, only a single wolf is left. In such cases the wolf has been known to steal a march on civilization by mating with a dog and raising a litter of wolf-dogs that are just as bad as wolves, and sometimes worse.

The Wise Coyote

The little coyote, also a true wolf, has survived the advance of civilization much better than the lobo. He is still numerous all over the west, and is reported to be extending his range eastward. The coyote does great damage to sheep, taking regularly 10 percent of the lamb crop in many sections of the southwest, but he is not a menace to cattle. Furthermore, he does not depend upon stock for a living to the extent that the wolf does. If the sheep men make it too hot for him, he can retire into a desert country, where you would think a buzzard would starve, and there live on mice, lizards and an occasional jack rabbit. It is possible to reduce his numbers in sections where he is a pest but he is in no danger whatever of being exterminated.

The one other predatory creature which engages the government hunters is the mountain lion, puma, or panther, as it is variously called. This creature is native to almost every part of the United States, but it has been exterminated in much of the east, leaving a trail of legend and myth behind it. There is no creature about which you can hear more weird and thrilling stories. Its cry is said to be the most hair-raising sound in the world resembling the scream of a terrified woman. It is said to trail men for days and nights, seeking a chance to pounce upon them. But there are remarkably few records of attacks on men by mountain lions, and the animal kills few cattle because it lives only in mountain country. In some sections of mountain summer range it is very destructive to cattle and to horses, young colts being its favorite food. Few lions are killed, and they are still abundant in the Rocky Mountains.

This government campaign against predatory animals may be regarded as a last act in the drama of subjugating the wild west. When the wolves and lions are gone the western rangeland will be as tame as an Iowa hog pasture, and there will be no more need of men who can shoot a rifle and set a trap.

Everything Due to Effort.

In all human affairs there are efforts, and there are results, and the strength of the effort is the measure of the result. Chance is not, "Gifts," powers; material, intellectual, and spiritual possessions are the fruits of effort; they are thoughts completed, objects accomplished, visions realized.—James Allen.

Q. What is the origin of the term pin money? A. A.

A. In English law, a sum of money paid periodically by a husband to his wife for clothes and other personal expenses is designated as pin money. While the origin of the term is obscured, some writers assert that it took its name from an ancient tax levied in England for the purpose of supplying the Queen with pins.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY. O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, November 17.—A few blocks north of Brooklyn Bridge on Lafayette street is a huge, sinister pile of stone hemmed in by a wall of rock 20 feet high. Pedestrians catching the faint glimpse of its outline at night can scarcely suppress a shudder. There is something about its brooding presence that grips the emotions—depresses.

It is the Tombs prison. "The Tombs!" A name bestowed by a Poe! How replete with an uncanny sense of weird values. No building I have ever seen is so gloomy looking or gives the impression of being the grave of living dead men.

Faint lozenges of light come from the little barred windows that fleck each tier. The entrance is an archway and inspection reveals two massive black iron doors that slide open to admit the morning and evening arrival of the Black Marias filled with tight-lipped men, abject in their hopelessness and generally cursing with each breath.

Two men have scaled the outside walls and dropped to the street only to find their limbs broken from the drop. No armed sentinels pace back and forth on the top of the wall. It is not necessary. From across the street where I stood watching the forbidding mausoleum of hopes the erie silence was broken.

It sounded more like the gruff roar of some wounded beast. A soft scurrying of footsteps, the clank of an iron door and silence again. Leading from the Tombs to the Criminal Courts building across the street is the Bridge of Sighs. Handcuffed prisoners walk across it to hear their fate.

Some of the world's most notorious prisoners have trod its concrete flooring. Nan Patterson, Harry Thaw, Roland Molineaux and a host of others whose crimes loom large in the pages of criminal history. All during the day the Tombs is rocked by the roar of a thousand street noises—giant trucks heaves against cobblestones, honking motors, shrieking tugs. But at night Lafayette street simmers down to the quiet of a country church yard and in the Tombs men either sleep or fight violent battles with their souls.

My night wanderings took me from the gloom of Lafayette street to beautiful Riverside Drive. At night it is at its best. Bathed in soft moonlight the asphalt driveway unwinds like ribbons. On either side are magnificent mansions as stately as Druids, below the shimmering Hudson flickering from rays of electric light and across the ever majestic Palisades half hidden in a light fog. Then up over the hill by Grant's Tomb flashed two piercing lights. They came on with a rush. There was a faint snatch of a song and high pitched laughter. Out of a side street came a mighty poppity-pop-pop. The chase was on for several blocks. Then all drew up at a curb. The motorcycle cop handed them their summons and each drove off—and one party very slowly.

Frank Tinney is leaving off the burnt cork and playing in white face. Is the black face comedian to disappear? Eddie Cantor is appearing in white face at the Winter Garden. There are rumors that when Al Jolson next comes to Broadway he will be in white face. And too the men who make songs and actors are choosing different types of song. Cantor's song hit is "Feather Your Nest"—not a comedy number—and Al Jolson's song hit this season is "Grieving For You", a sentimental number. It is reported that Bert Williams, who is a very light mulatto, is shortly to appear in a straight comedy without makeup.

In 1909 Root was elected U. S. senator from New York. He served as U. S. council in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration in 1910, is a member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and is affiliated with many well organized associations for the promotion of peace and international relations. Walls!

They rise unto the skies by day and night—
White walls of Persia and of far Cathay
And Chinese walls of old tradition's might;
The sacred walls that fell—a startling sight!
When earth-worn warriors on their weary way,
Marched round the town and, striving to obey,
Cried seven times the magic words of light!

These are the walls clear-seen in every land
But greater far those walls invisible
That close the heart by barriers cold and chill;
Walls raised by minds that cannot understand,
That build of prejudice, of fear and doubt,
Those deadly walls that shut all freedom out!

The Passion For Learning

"You mustn't go near the open windows, dear," said a mother during house cleaning time to her three-year-old daughter. "If you should fall out on the ground you would surely break your neck."

Betty followed her mother upstairs and played happily with her doll for an hour. Suddenly her mother missed her from the bed, and, noticing that the door was closed, thought she was hiding somewhere in the room. After a playful search of a minute or two, she heard a patter of small feet in the hall, and hastened to open the door.

"It didn't break my neck, mother," remarked the child as she resumed her play with the doll.

HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE FAILS

The proposed additions to the present Hempstead hospital cannot be built as a result of the recent election, Attorney General Price ruling that the measure required a two-thirds vote as contended by City Solicitor Anselm Shelton.

The question has been in doubt ever since the election. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce, who promulgated the scheme, labored through the campaign with the idea that a majority alone was required for the building of the additions, and when the final reports showed that 6962 votes had been cast for the issue and 3906 against it, they took for granted that the issue had safely passed with a majority of 3056. The next day, however, they were confronted with the possibility that it would take a two-thirds vote, instead of a mere majority to make the addition a reality.

The question was placed before Attorney-General Price at Columbus for settlement and the answer received yesterday indicates that the additions cannot be built unless further steps are taken in the matter.

The hospital committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet sometime this week to decide what shall be done with regard to the additions, whether it shall be allowed to die, or whether other means will be taken to provide the hospital additions.

The city council still has the power to pass the hospital issue, but in that case it would come under the regular operating expenses of the city. Leaders of the hospital campaign point to the fact that the hospital has been self-sustaining for the past eight months and that it will end the year with a balance of from $6000 to $8000 and if some plan could be devised whereby the revenue from the hospital could be paid directly into the city treasury, the additions could be built.

The Act referred to by Attorney-General Price in his decision is as follows:

"The procedure followed in submitting this matter to the electors was that set out in Sections 3939 to 3947, both inclusive, General Code."

These statutes, commonly known as the "Longworth Act," are both enabling and restrictive in character, providing on the one hand that the city council may issue bonds for certain purposes, including erection of hospitals and improvement of existing hospitals, and on the other hand, that bonds issued by the council for all of the authorized purposes shall not in any fiscal year exceed one-half of one percent of the tax value of the property in the municipal corporation, and shall not at any time exceed two and a half percent of such tax value. However, the limitations of one-half precent and two and a half percent may be exceeded, provided that council first obtains authority of the electors of the corporation at a general, or special election—the maximum limit, upon the total of all bonds being five present, and the required vote of the electors being two-thirds of those voting at such an election. In calculating the total of all bonds for the purpose of remaining within the several limitations of one-half of one percent, two and a half percent and five percent. Certain bonds are excluded from this ruling, but the bonds for the proposed hospital additions here do not come under this ruling.

Attorney-General Price said that the terms of the Longworth Act must be fully met in order to afford a basis for a legal issue of bonds under the authority of that act and he stated that he was not aware of any procedure for hospital bonds under any other authority than that given in the Longworth Act.

The issue is apparently dead then, unless revived by the city council or by the Chamber of Commerce by some means. If no action is taken until the next regular election it is possible that the issue will be presented to the voters again at that time.

Chamber of Commerce officials who had charge of the campaign for the additions are certain that the issue would pass if again presented to the voters, as throughout the campaign they labored under the impression that it took but a majority vote to carry the issue, and all the publicity emphasized the fact that it took a majority. At that the issue fell short of the necessary two-thirds vote by only slightly over 200 votes.

Red Cross Canvassers Will Meet At 8 P. M.

All Red Cross house-to-house canvassers and other volunteer workers are urged to be present at a mass meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at eight o'clock at which time the detailed plans for the city canvass will be given out.

The entire city has been divided into 61 sections with two workers in charge of the canvass in each section and it is hoped by this method to reach all the people of the city before the drive ends.

Supplies have been furnished to all the factories and fine results are expected from them as the workers among them assert that a fine spirit of cooperation is being displayed.

New Greek Premier 80 Years Old

ATHENS, Nov. 17—George Rhallis, former premier, has succeeded in forming a cabinet to succeed the Venizelos government defeated in Sunday's elections and the new ministry will be sworn in Wednesday, it was announced today.

M. Rhallis, who is 80 years old, will, besides the premiership, assume the portfolio of foreign affairs.

M. Rhallis previously had informed Admiral Coundouriotis, the regent, that he would accept the task of forming a cabinet, but only after the resignation of the old government has been definitely announced.

There is much interest in the vote cast by the army, which has not yet been returned and which it has been thought might affect the Venizelos cause favorably. The opposition's press bureau, however, is quoted today as declaring that the voting at the front would be annulled.

TAX PAYING TIME IS AGAIN ROLLING AROUND

Collection of December taxes for a number of taxing districts in Scioto county has been started by Treasurer Gilbert F. Dodds and the collection for the entire county is expected to be in full blast by December 1st.

The districts in which taxes are now payable include Washington, Nile, Rush, Morgan, Rarden, Jefferson, Clay, Bloom, and Green townships, New Boston, Wheelersburg and the First and Second wards of Portsmouth.

The tax rate for Scioto county will be $2.00 for each hundred dollars of tax valuation, except in a few districts where the rate will be a trifle lower, of which $1.00 a hundred, the first half, is due.

No doubt many property owners in the districts from which taxes are now payable will take advantage of the opportunity to pay up during the next two weeks, so as to avoid the rush later on.
